New Chief Takes Office

History was made in the November election of the Delaware Tribe when Paula Pechonick was elected Chief. The Tribe's first woman elected Chief. Her opponents were Chief Jerry Douglas, Titus Frenchman and Arthur Stull, Jr. Chief Pechonick is determined to take the Tribe forward to prosperity and unity.

Councilmember candidates in order of votes were Jan Brown, Verna Crawford, Raymond Cline, Bertha Jenan Alderman, Larry Joe Brooks, Daniel Cass, Smith, John Sumpter, Nicky Michael and Sidney Barnes.

New Tribal Judges are Rick Barnes and William Crawford. The Trust Budget passed easily.

The Chief and Council have many challenges before them to secure the future of the Tribe. They are determined to work together and build a solid foundation for the Delaware people.

Chief Justice Art Stull administered the Oath of Office to Chief Pechonick, Councilmembers and Justice Rick Barnes at General Council Nov. 13. Justice William Crawford was sworn in by Chief Pechonick at the December Council meeting.

Dear Chief Pechonick of the Delaware Tribe of Indians

On behalf of President Obama, the White House Domestic Policy Council and the Office of Public Engagement cordially invite you to join him and senior members of his Administration for the 2010 White House Tribal Nations Conference. The Conference will be held on Thursday, December 16, 2010, in Washington D.C., at the Department of the Interior’s Sidney R. Yates Auditorium from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

This conference will build on last year’s successful White House Tribal Nations Conference, at which President Obama signed the Presidential Memorandum on Tribal Consultation to improve Indian tribal participation in Federal policy decisions that impact them. The goal of this year’s conference is to continue the meaningful discussion between tribal leadership and the Administration, which remains committed to strengthening the Nation-to-Nation relationship between the United States and Indian Nations. Conference attendees will have the opportunity to interact with representatives from the highest levels of President Obama’s Administration.

Chief Pechonick attended the White House Tribal Nations Conference. Vice Chief Chester Brooks, Trust Board Chairman Wayne Stull, and Tribal Attorney Vicki Sousa also traveled to D.C. The group went to the offices of Senator Coburn and Congressman Sullivan. Chief Pechonick was introduced to Congressman Tom Cole. The BIA office of George Skibine was visited, also in attendance at that meeting were Barbara Cohen and Scott Keep who have been a big help to our Tribe over the years. The NIEA had a reception for Tribal Leaders December 14th at the Smithsonian National Museum of the American Indian, which our group attended. Former Chief Curtis Zunigha, who works in D.C., came by and visited a while. The airplane flights were uneventful.
Message from Chief Paula Pechonick

November has been a month of patience and persistence. I was elated and honored by the results of the election. I haven’t wiped the smile off my face (or the sweat off my brow) since approximately 6pm on November 6th. We made history. Our matrilineal tribe now has a female chief.

“Buffalo” Dale Lewis who served as security for the election was the first person to congratulate me. He said, “Enjoy this moment now, because your popularity is at an all-time high.” I have not found this to be the case. I have received so much support from many tribal members throughout my first month in office.

The Tribal Headquarters is in the process of much change. We are working on staffing to find the right people for the positions. There has been much transition with finding appropriate office space for personnel. We hope to have a fully trained operating staff very soon. The process of the transition of the administration is going smoothly but takes time. We appreciate your patience and persistence in helping us help you with your tribal needs. We are taking a look at the 2011 holiday schedule and office hours. I have worked hard in the office daily and plan to continue to do so. I have been away at times for tribal business including:

Councilwoman Jan Brown and I with archaeologist Gregory Brown (not related) traveled to a History conference at the Delaware Nation in Anadarko. I met Chief Kerry Holton, chief of the Delaware Nation and we agreed to work together in the future.

The assistant chief, Chet Brooks and I took a preliminary trip to Ohio to look at possible land parcels and discuss future business developments in the area. This trip was at no cost to the tribe. This project is a process which has many steps and is slow moving. I will continue to update you.

I traveled to Washington, D.C. to the Tribal Nations Summit at the invitation of the President. An important point of the trip was to discuss legislation being created to keep landless tribes, like ourselves from putting land in trust.

I have been in many committee meetings in my first month and have been working diligently to get up to speed on our tribe’s current events. I will continue to work to keep you informed. We are exploring ways for the tribe to be more accessible to the people. Thank you for your patience and persistence.

For your information:
Minutes of both Tribal Council and Trust Board are posted monthly on the official Tribal Web site: www.delawaretribe.org.
Other information including Registration, Education, scholarship application forms, job openings and more may also be found on the site.

Attention Delaware Tribal Members!
Name and Address changes: If you change your name or address, please contact the tribal office at 170 NE. Barbara, Bartlesville, OK 74006, 918.336.5272. To complete a name change on the tribal roll, you will need to send proper documentation, such as a legal document, stating the change (Example: Marriage License, Adoption Papers, Divorce papers etc.). If your address changes, just drop a note or a post office change card to the tribal office. It is very important to keep all of our tribal members up to date on the tribal registration rolls. We can continue to do this with your help!

Death notifications: When a family member is deceased, we need the proper documentation provided to the tribal registration department to remove the individual from the mailing list and current roll. Copy of the death certificate or the obituary from the newspaper will suffice.

If you find mistakes in this publication consider that they are there for a purpose. We publish something for everyone and some people are always looking for mistakes.
The Delaware Tribe’s Historic Preservation Office (DTHPO) is tasked with protecting and preserving sites of cultural and religious significance to the Delaware Tribe. Such sites would include locations such as current and past cemeteries and grave, archaeological sites, traditional cultural properties and most importantly reburial sites. The DTHPO is funded by the revenue generated from the consultation fees provided by private companies who require our services. A vast majority of our daily time is spent providing formal and timely responses to consultation requests from public and private companies. Beyond such routine work, we have completed the following tasks listed below.

NAGPRA Committee

With the re-organization of the NAGPRA Committee, discussions have begun concerning the structure and purpose of the organization. We are currently looking for models to use in order to create by-laws for the committee that would identify, among others, the rules for membership, authority and mission of the committee. Initially conceived, the committee will exist under the authority of the Delaware Tribal Council and provide oversight and support for the NAGPRA project office. Such oversight would potentially include consultation on future staff additions, major equipment purchases and budgetary requirements. Support could be provided in the acquisition of grants and identifying individuals to represent the tribe at conferences and meetings.

Delaware Burial Practices in the Archaeological Record

As the primary product of our FY2010 NAGPRA Documentation Grant, we have been funded by the National NAGPRA Program to complete a report that documents the archaeological signature of historic Delaware funerary practices. Such a report holds the potential to enable the Delaware Tribe to reclassify certain artifacts in museums as funerary objects and thus subject to repatriation and reburial.

Preliminary work has already taken place toward the completion of the report and we look forward to collaborating closely with the Elders Committee as we move forward. Such initial research includes a significant literature review on Delaware archaeology carried out by Greg Brown. Through interlibrary loan and visits to several libraries and colleagues, Greg has compiled an exhaustive list of sources on the subject and is now completing a draft report on the literature.

A second initial step was our meeting with the Elders Committee on November 5, 2010. During the meeting we provided an introduction to the project and an invitation to the members of the Elders Committee to provide us with direction for carrying out the next phase of the project which is to gather information from contemporary tribal members on current and remembered traditional funerary practices. Some initial suggestions included carrying out interviews with elders and transcribing existing tape recorded interviews in the possession of tribal members. This initial meeting was an important first step and we will return to this question of how best to proceed at the next Elders meeting. We also encourage any tribal member that would like to participate in our collection of information concerning Delaware funerary practices to contact Brice Obermeyer at (918) 335-7026 or bobermey@emporia.edu.

NAGPRA at 20 Symposium, November 15-16, 2010

As part of our requirements under the FY2010 NAGPRA Documentation Grant, Brice Obermeyer and Greg Brown attended the NAGPRA at 20 Symposium in Washington, D.C. This historic event commemorated the twenty year anniversary of the passage of NAGPRA with panel discussion from experts and practitioners in the field on the subject of the past, present and future of NAGPRA. The resounding theme of the symposium was that although NAGPRA, as civil rights legislation, has done much to correct historic injustices concerning the excavation and curation of American Indian human remains, there is still much more work to be done before the original intent of the movement is met.

Delaware Nation History Summit, November 19-20, 2010

At the invitation of the Delaware Nation in Anadarko, we attended the 5th annual Delaware Nation History Summit with Chief Pechonick and council member Jan Brown. Tribal members, Susan Cade and Levi Randoll, were also in attendance for the two day event. The summit featured speakers on Delaware history and religion as well as an opportunity to reconnect with members and representatives of the Delaware Nation as well as colleagues in the field. As a result of the summit, there was some consideration given to the idea that the Delaware Tribe would either co-host next year’s event or host our own event in the spring of next year.

Database of Museum Inventories

The original database of museum inventories, compiled by Levi Randoll under the FY2004 NAGPRA Documentation Grant, has been updated from its 2004 version. The updated version utilizes Microsoft Access software and includes new inventories as well as those that had already been added. The database is quite extensive with inventories from over 80 institutions and includes thousands of items from museum collections.

ArcGIS Digital Map Database

With ArcGIS software provided by the BIA, we continue work on a Digital Map Database that will store the mapped locations of the historic and prehistoric Delaware occupations as well as recent reburial sites and traditional cultural properties. Once completed, the map database will enable the DTHPO to better protect important locations and allow for a readily available user friendly resource for future officers to use.

The Delaware Culture Preservation Committee Events in 2010

The Culture Preservation Committee was founded in 1991. The goal is to preserve Lenape culture, language, songs and dances. The Committee is involved in a number of activities every year.

The Committee also makes donations to local powwows or dance activities as our funds will allow. The Committee holds Delaware Cultural Night on the night before the Delaware Powwow. Our Committee also holds a two-day event called Delaware Days in September. This is held at the Fall-Leaf Powwow Grounds northeast of Copan, OK. We have always been grateful to the late Fred Fall-Leaf, and now to his family, for allowing our activities to be held there.

Committee meetings are held on the third Tuesday of each month at 6:00 p.m. at the Delaware Community Center. Our meetings are open to the public.

The Committee hosted a Christmas Stomp Dance on December 18, 2010 at the Delaware Community Center. The event was well attended. The Committee provided smoked turkey and venison stew and those attending brought side dishes. Everyone enjoyed the dance, dinner and fellowship.

The Committee chairman is Chester Brooks. Members are: Jan Brown, Kenny Brown, Anita Davis-Lewis, Titus Frenchman, Diana Hallman, Jim Hammon, Annette Ketchum, Jenifer Pechonick, Paula Pechonick, John Sumpter, Jack Tatum, and Bonnie Thaxton. Jim Rementer, a non-voting member, is secretary.

Falleaf makes Chief

In the military, less than 2% of all enlisted members ever make it to the top of their career ladder, a grade called E-9. Whether it is Sergeant Major, Master Chief Petty Officer or Chief Master Sergeant, it’s quite an honor and accomplishment.

Marcus W. Falleaf, graduate of Caney Valley High School, Pittsburg State University and member of the Delaware Tribe, recently reached the top of the enlisted ranks when he was selected as the Air National Guard’s Human Resource Advisor for the state of Texas. Promoted to Chief Master Sergeant, Falleaf works directly for the Adjutant General in areas of Force Management, Force Development and Diversity Education.

Starting his military career in the Marine Corps in 1975, Falleaf guarded the National Security Agency in Ft. Meade, MD until discharged honorably in 1978. Joining the Air National Guard in 1986, Falleaf has worked his way up through the ranks in such capacities as Joint Force Headquarters, Camp Mabry in Austin, TX. As a civilian, he is a teacher in the Cypress Fairbanks ISD, Houston.

Currently residing in Houston, TX, Chief Master Sergeant Falleaf attributes most of his success to his family and friends. “I couldn’t have made it without my wife, Vicki”, said Falleaf. “She practically raised our kids by herself.”

Delaware, Mark Hill, Named Amber Alert Coordinator Of The Year (2009)

WASHINGTON, D.C.
Mary Lou Leary, the Acting Assistant Attorney General for the Department of Justice’s Office of Justice Programs (OJP) and National AMBER Alert Coordinator, presented Mark Hill, with the AMBER Alert Coordinator of the Year Award during the National AMBER Alert Symposium in Tampa, Florida, October 27, 2009.

Hill, the AMBER Alert Coordinator for the Gila River Indian Community, near Sacaton, Arizona, received the award for his committed efforts in developing the first fully functional AMBER Alert program in a tribal community. Despite challenges he encountered, Hill created a program within the Gila River Indian Community that implements the principles and standards of the AMBER Alert initiative while maintaining the integrity of the historical and cultural needs of the community.

“Keeping children safe is our number one priority, and the AMBER Alert System is an important tool for all of us,” said Mary Lou Leary. “When a child is lost or abducted we want everyone to be vigilant and aware. We need to be sure that our response is both swift and seamless.”

This year, during the National AMBER Alert Symposium, OJP recognized individual or collective efforts to protect children from abduction and to recover missing or abducted children. Award categories are:

* AMBER Alert Coordinator of the Year
* AMBER Broadcast/Media Person of the Year
* AMBER Alert Law Enforcement Leadership Award
* AMBER Alert Citizen Award

The AMBER (America’s Missing: Broadcast Emergency Response) Alert system began in 1996 when Dallas-Fort Worth broadcasters teamed with local police to develop an early warning system to help find abducted children. The system was created in memory of nine-year-old Amber Hagerman of Arlington, Texas, who was abducted while riding her bicycle and later found murdered. AMBER Alerts are emergency messages broadcast when a law enforcement agency determines that a child has been abducted and is in imminent danger.

Mark Hill is a Delaware Tribal member employed as the Communications Engineer/911 Manager and AMBER Alert Coordinator in the Gila River Indian Police Department.

The Office of Justice Programs, headed by Acting Assistant Attorney General Mary Lou Leary, provides federal leadership in developing the nation’s capacity to prevent and control crime, administer justice, and assist victims. OJP has five component bureaus: the Bureau of Justice Assistance— the Bureau of Justice Statistics—the National Institute of Justice—the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention— and the Office for Victims of Crime. Additionally, OJP has two program offices: the Community Capacity Development Office, which incorporates the Weed and Seed strategy, and the Office of Sex Offender Sentencing, Monitoring, Apprehending, Registering, and Tracking (SMART).

Letters to the Editor:

Looking for picture of Great Grandmother

Dear Editor:

Hello:

My tribal member number is 3557. I am trying to locate a picture of my great grandmother, Elizabeth Silas, who was the mother of my grandmother, Phoebe Whiteturkey Reeve. Can you tell me if Lynette Perry, my aunt who is now deceased, by chance donated some photos to you? My mother, Amy Jean Reeve Bell, says there was a photo of John and Elizabeth Silas (father and daughter) that was in the possession of Lynette Perry, but we do not know who now has it. Lynette Perry wrote a book, and was rather active with the Delaware Tribe, we believe, so we are wondering if perhaps she donated these family photos to the Delaware organization. I would very much appreciate your help in researching these historical items for me. Please let me know if you need more information. Thank you!

Sincerely, Marilyn Hanson

Mary Marie Mather
Funeral services for Mary Marie Mather, 88, of Sperry, were held Tuesday, December 21, 2010 at Johnson Funeral Chapel in Sperry, OK. Reverend Doyle Ginn officiated and burial was in the Dewey Cemetery in Collinsville, OK.

Mary was born February 18, 1922 in Sperry, OK to Jess and Jessie (Spybuck) Chisholm. She passed away December 16, 2010 in Skiatook, OK.

She is survived by her sister, numerous nieces, nephews, and many other relatives and friends.

“Leo Paul Reno”
Leo Paul Reno died September 26, 2010, after a prolonged illness. He was born April 24, 1922, the eight son in the 11 children family of William Lewis Reno and Alma Ett Smith-Reno, near Ketchum, Oklahoma; Paul was 88. He was preceded in death by all of his siblings and is survived by a myriad of cousins, nieces, and nephews scattered across the United States. Funeral services for Paul were held at the Ketchum Cemetery, on October 2, 2010, with his nephew, Dr. Harley W. Reno, presiding.

Paul attended public school in northeastern Oklahoma, eventually graduating from Cleora High School in 1942. Shortly thereafter, Paul was inducted into the Army, where he served three years, the last two of which were in the service of the 8th Air Force stationed in southeastern England. He was part of the ground crew which serviced heavy bombers flying over Europe. He was honorably discharged in the fall of 1945. In late 1945, Paul visited an aunt, brother and sister, and their families in Oakland, California. His intention was to make the visit brief, before returning to Oklahoma, where he dreamed of farming his family’s homestead in Delaware County with mules. His brief visit lasted for the next 65 years; yet, he never abandoned the dream, even though, day-by-day, he became more integrated in the social life of the Bay Area. Ironically, the one thing he never surrendered to language of California was his Oklahoma accent-the unmistakable trade mark of his persona that endeared him to everyone he met and knew.

During his tenure in California, he worked 35 years as a hydraulic mechanic for the Navy Supply Center of Oakland, before retiring in 1982. That was just the beginning of the rest of his life. He enjoyed three more careers, all of which contributed to his being recognized as a Living Legend by several regional, national, and international organizations.

His second career began in 1953, when he moved into a home on Kansas Street in Oakland and started growing flowers—especially Dahlias in the backyard. Over the next 35 years, he won many thousands of ribbons showing and competing in regional flower shows throughout Central California. His gardening prowess became so familiar to Dahlia enthusiasts that his yard routinely was featured in flower magazines and newspapers throughout the State. When he began closing his “flower career,” he mused that he would like to have his many ribbons sewn into a queen-sized quilt which depicted an Indian war chief in full war bonnet, so that he could enter the quilt in the State Fair at Sacramento and, “beat those old biddies at their own game.” The quilt, made from 1,717 ribbons, has been displayed in quilt shows in Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, and California, where it repeatedly won acclaim and blue ribbons.

Beginning in about 1980, Paul started his third career, when he developed an interest in steam-powered machinery, especially steam-powered tractors. At that time, the City of Oakland had in storage an inoperable Best 5 steam tractor. Paul and some colleagues asked the City of Oakland for permission restore that steam tractor to full operational capability. Permission was granted and, over the next several years, those retired mechanics restored the tractor. Today, there are only two functional Best 5 Steam Tractors in existence. For his work on the Best Steam Tractor and contributions to the restoration of other kinds of steam and gasoline engines, Paul was awarded membership in the Hall of Fame of the Early Day Gasoline Engine & Tractor Association in 1989. To date, it is the only member of that Hall of Fame from the West Coast.

Paul’s last career began in childhood, but lapsed for 50 years, because mule- and horse-drawn farm machinery long ago was replaced by steam and gasoline powered systems. In 1987, he started restoring discarded animal-powered equipment, demonstrating and operating such equipment at public “gas-ups” and “trashing bees” on ranches and farms in the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys, and building horse and mule hitching systems for pulling antiquated equipment.

His many restored pieces have been donated to and on display at worthy organizations like Ardenwood Historic Farm of Alameda County, Koster Ranch of San Joaquin County and Cabral Farms of Stanislaus County. He routinely corresponded with “horse and mule men” around the world, answering their many questions about restoration of machinery, operation of equipment, and organizing “big hitches” for public viewing and entertainment. Paul also contributed articles and technical commentary to periodicals like the Small Farmer Journal, Farm and Ranch Living, and Engineers and Machines Magazine, to name a few.

Paul was a person who impacted—indeed, sometimes drastically—changed a person’s life. He affected positive change in people sometimes with a smile, a soft spoken word of encouragement, a subtle wink of a sparkling blue eye, or a calculated gesture accented by boundless wit. He was magnetic! Indeed, those of us privileged to have called him uncle, mentor, and friend are better individuals today because he nourished in each person those qualities requisite to good citizenship. A long time will pass before there is another person like Leo Paul Reno of Oakland, California.

Bill D. Stevens
Funeral services for Bill D. Stevens, 85, of Nowata were on Dec. 30, 2010 in the Benjamin Funeral Home Chapel, with Rev. Waymon Hunt of Arkansas officiating.

Interment was in the Memorial Park Cemetery in Nowata under the direction of the Benjamin Funeral Home of Nowata.

Bill was born on Nov. 29, 1925 in Greeley, Colo., to Roy Stevens and Lusena (Miller) Stevens. He died on Saturday, Dec. 25, 2010 in the Jane Phillips Medical Center in Bartlesville.

He attended Nowata High School and was a WWII vet. He enlisted in the U.S. Navy in January 1945 and served aboard the USS Munda Bay CVE-1 04 bay flat-top aircraft carrier as a water tender second class. The Munda participated in the Asiatic-Pacific campaign shutting supplies and transporting wounded from Iwo Jima. He was awarded one Gold Battle Star, a Victory Medal and the American Area Campaign Medal.

He married Allene Briggs on April 22, 1947 in Independence, Kan., and they made their home in Nowata. He retired from Reda Pump on Dec. 13, 1985 after 37 years. He helped build the pump that Reda donated for national display in the Smithsonian in Washington, D.C.

He raised purebred Santa Gertrudis cattle for 15 years, winning many first place and grand champion awards at livestock shows. One of his skills was welding, and he built his own livestock trailer, pens and barns. He had a special interest in cars and tractors, and was a proud member of the Delaware Indian Tribe and the VFW.

What gave him the most sense of pride in his life were his grandchildren. He loved family gatherings and sharing stories with one another. He had a strong Christian faith. He was also a spirited OU football fan, who was looking forward to the Fiesta Bowl in January.

He is survived by his wife, Allene of Nowata; one son, Jerry Stevens and wife Pam of Nowata; one daughter, Judy Gerken and husband, Fred of Liberty, Mo.; three grandchildren Eric Gerken of Liberty, Mo., Carissa Stevens of Oklahoma City and Melissa Stevens of Edmond; nieces, Denise Stevens, Pam Maddux and Charlotte Yirsa of Nowata, Janet Fuller of Grove, Marlene Swigart of Chocaw and Shari Sherrick of Bartlesville; nephews, John, Jim and Jake Myers of Nowata, Richard Briggs of Texas City; and many more cousins and friends.

Delaware Applicants Needed
By Delaware Housing Authority Housing Officer

The Housing Authority of the Delaware Tribe (HADT) is currently seeking low income Native American families in need of housing. We are asking that if you, or someone you know, are interested in the possibility of receiving housing assistance to contact the HADT so that an application may be sent to you. We also have several rental units coming available in the Chelsea and Claremore areas, including units at the elder complex at Delaware Acres. The qualifications for assistance through the HADT housing programs are: the family must have at least one member who is a member of a federally recognized Native American tribe and the family’s combined income cannot exceed the Nation Median Income limit established by HUD. Currently the income limit for a family of four is $51,200. The current chart is posted in the HADT lobby or you may call the office for this information. All information submitted on the application will be subject to third-party verification and all applicants 18 years and older must pass a criminal background check.

The HADT has one, two, three and four bedroom units with central heat and air, 1 or 1-1/2 baths (depending upon unit size) washer & dryer hookups, fenced back yard and most have a single or double garage. Rent is based on 25% (not to exceed 30%) of the families’ adjusted income and range from $200 to $375 per month. A security deposit of $100 per bedroom is required at move in. Program participants will have a yearly recertification to continued occupancy and an annual inspection of the rental unit is also a requirement of the program.

Applications are available at the HADT office located at 66 Northview Drive, Chelsea, OK, or by visiting the HADT’s website at hadt.org. Applications may be sent to you.

Keep in our kids safe
By Melanie Downs, Delaware Housing Authority Safety & Procurement Officer.

No one wants anything to happen to kids but unfortunately accidents do happen. Please do not speed through our neighborhoods. The speed limit at Secondine I & II & Delaware Acres is 15 mph. Please observe & follow the speed limit posted & if you have visitors that are not following the speed limit please explain to them that there are children of all ages living there and to please slow down. Please watch your children while they are playing outside. The HADT has taken measures to keep the kids safe by having providing fenced yards & playgrounds. However, older children like to ride their bikes on the roads. This is not much of a problem with the older children but young want to do what the big kids are doing & play in the road which is very dangerous. Parents please do not allow young children to play out in the front yard without supervision, we would all be devastated if something happened to a child that could have been avoided.

Safety Tips For Home, Children, Roads

Home Safety
By Melanie Downs, Delaware Housing Authority Safety & Procurement Officer.

In one year, falls in the home and community caused or led to 15,900 deaths. All age groups are vulnerable but elders are most at risk. In fact, 80% of those receiving fatal injury are over the age of 65. Falls continue to be the major reason for injury related death, injury and hospital admission for older adults. Follow these tips to prevent slips and falls in your home:

Keep the floor clear. Reduce clutter and safely tuck telephone and electrical cords out of walkways.

Keep the floor clean. Clean up grease, water and other liquids immediately. Don’t wax floors. Use non-skid throw rugs to reduce your chance of slipping on linoleum.

Install handrails in stairways. Have grab bars in the bathroom (by toilets and in tub and shower.)

Make sure living areas are well lit. We can all trip and fall in the dark.

Be aware that climbing and reaching high places of a fall. Use a sturdy step stool with hand rails when these tasks are necessary.

Follow medication dosages closely. Using medication incorrectly may lead to dizziness, weakness and other side effects. These can all lead to dangerous falls.

Road Safety
By Melanie Downs, Delaware Housing Authority Safety & Procurement Officer.

Winter road conditions require your extra attention. Staying off the phone, driving at a safe and legal speed, driving alert and sober and buckling up will ensure that you safely make it to your destination.

• Drive with your headlights on.
• Slow Down!

Give yourself extra time to reach your destination when roads are slick.

• Leave room for maintenance vehicles and plows - stay at least 15 car lengths back.
• Watch for icy surfaces on bridges, even if the rest of the road seems to be clear of ice.
• Look farther ahead in traffic. Actions by other drivers will alert you to problems and give you extra seconds to react.

Trucks take longer to stop, so don’t cut in front of them and give them space.

• Don’t use your cruise control or overdrive when it’s freezing (or colder).
• Don’t get over-confident with four-wheel drive. It helps you get going quicker but won’t help you stop any faster.

Safety is no accident!

Delaware Chief Looks to Future for Tribe

Newly-elected Delaware Tribe of Indians Chief Paula Pechonick stands by the seal of her tribe at the Delaware Tribal Headquarters Bartlesville.

By Abigail Singrey asingrey@examiner-enterprise.com

Newly-elected Delaware Tribe of Indians Chief Paula Pechonick isn’t impressed by the historical significance of being the first woman chief. Instead, she is concerned with building up the tribe after it survived past difficulties.

“I thought our tribe needed some new blood,” Pechonick said. “Never in my wildest dreams was I going to run for chief.”

“I had kind of a low profile.”

When she found out that the past chief was running again, Pechonick felt led to oppose him in the race.

“I prayed and talked to the Creator a long time. I’ve been asking this question for years: What is it that I’m supposed to be doing?” Pechonick said.

She felt called to lead the tribe into a new era following the end of the Delaware’s difficult fight to be officially recognized as a tribe by the federal government.

The tribe’s difficulties began as far back as 1979, when the United States Bureau of Indian Affairs revoked the tribal status of the Delaware living among the Cherokee. They began to count them as part of the Cherokee tribe.

This decision was overturned in 1996, when the Delaware was again recognized as an official tribe.

However, the Cherokee Nation filed a lawsuit to overturn the Delaware recognition. The Delaware again lost its federal recognition in 2004, when a court ruled in favor of the Cherokee Nation.

As a result of losing its recognition and all its government funding, the tribe had to sell buildings and other assets to survive.

The Delaware Tribe officially regained its recognition on July 28, 2009. “We’ve won it and lost it, won it and lost it,” Pechonick said. “It’s just ridiculous ...”

When the tribe regained its recognition 18 months ago: Pechonick did not think that the current leadership took full advantage of the new opportunities.

Pechonick lived in Kansas for 18 years, then moved back to become more involved with the tribe. She became involved in the tribal government, serving around 15 years on the tribal council as well as serving as a judge for four years.

As a moccasin-maker, Pechonick was instrumental in preserving the craft within the tribe.

“I didn’t really have political aspirations but it just became necessary,” Pechonick said. “I seemed to have grassroots support. People were calling from as far away as New York and California to say they were voting for me.”

While her biggest goal for the tribe is to focus on economic development, so far she has had her hands full getting used to running the tribe.

She hopes eventually to work with the Delaware Nation - based in Anadarko - to preserve their joint culture. After visiting with its chief at a recent history summit, Pechonick thinks that perhaps the two tribes could begin to work together frequently in the future.

Pechonick is aware that the Delaware Tribe of Indians will still face challenges.

The Delaware Tribe has around 10,500 people, who are scattered across the U.S., she said. “Being absolutely a landless tribe is a drawback for economic development,” Pechonick said.

But she sees opportunities through grants and other federal programs to benefit her people, including doing business with the government and possibly developing some solar and wind power with the Environmental Protection Agency.

“Maybe when we become more active we can attract some of our people back to this area,” Pechonick said.

The idea of being able to influence the direction of the tribe as chief excites her, she said.

“It just seems like it was meant to be,” Pechonick said.

The 2011 Tribal Council and Trust Board meeting schedule has been set for the First Monday of each Month, unless unforeseen events cause them to be postponed to the following week. Times to be announced.

Location will be the Delaware Tribal Community Center. Check the Tribal website for more information. www.delawaretribe.org.
