Relations Between Delawares and Cherokees at an All-Time High

Tim Hudson

Tribal officials are saying that relations between the Delaware tribe of Indians and the Cherokee Nation are at an all-time high.

“I think it’s a great thing that is happening,” said Delaware Chief Chet Brooks.

Chief Books words were on the occasion of the Cherokee’s donation of $20,000 toward the Delaware’s Elder Nutrition Program on March 3. At that time Baker, Cherokee Councilman Dick Lay, and several other tribal officials made the trip to Bartlesville to present the check, have lunch and view the Tribal Headquarters.

“In attending the recent Delaware Tribal Headquarters nutrition site presentation, I am happy to report strong cordial relations between the Cherokee and Delaware” Councilman Lay said.

“A good nutritious meal, combined with fellowship, well, kinda like days gone by” Delaware Assistant Chief Bonnie Jo Griffith says that the Cherokee approached the tribe after becoming aware that the tribe needed help getting through to the next grant funding.

“We had run out of our grant money and were going to be really hurting to feed our elders,” Chief Brooks said. “So hats off to Chief Bill John Baker.” Assistant Chief Griffith says that the number of elders served by the program has doubled in the last year.

“We don’t just serve Delaware, as a native tribe as long as you take care of your elders it doesn’t matter if you are Cherokee or Delaware it’s taking care of elders. Plus I think word has gotten out that the food is terrific too and it’s always good when tribal members utilize what we have to offer.”

Lay concurs concerning the food: “Special thanks to the Delaware Chief and Council delegation for inviting us and being great hosts and big thanks to the cooks and staff at the complex for their good work.”

Chief Brooks says that the relations with the Cherokee have been long-standing.

“We been associated with the Cherokee nation for 140 some years and I think Chief Bill John Baker’s administration has been very friendly towards us…. I really hope the Delaware will come out and vote for him in the next election.”

“I think it’s great that we are able to work with them” Assistant Chief Griffith says

“They seem very receptive to us with Chief Brooks’ administration, which from what I understand was not the case previously. It’s a win-win situation and goodwill between the tribes that I hope will continue.”

PRESS RELEASE

Delaware Tribe of Indians is officially announcing the launch of its newest LLC, Tahkox e2. The company is spearheaded by Jimmie Johnson and DTI council. The acting tribe board of directors will oversee the tribe’s overall goals of training and ensure that new employment opportunities are met within our community. As Tahkox e2 has already undergone its official launch, Tahkox e2 employees will help usher in a new era of local growth and economic development.

Tahkox e2 is an environmental engineering company that will compete with government contracts on an 8a playing field. This will give the company an advantage of obtaining environmental contracts. Tahkox e2 is pursuing its aggressive penetration into the environmental engineering playing field; it has already secured several commercial subcontracts and is currently hiring and fulfilling the contractual obligations.

Now at a critical crossroads, Tahkox e2 is primed for winning government contracts both in Oklahoma and Kansas as well as around the Pacific Rim, mainly in Guam, Hawaii and Japan where there is an abundance of federal jobs. Tahkox e2 upper management is forecasting positive growth that will exceed expectations of similar companies with the help of outside experts helping to guide the way. By providing access to a global network of industry leaders, investors and talent, Tahkox e2 is structured for the best possible success that will move the local economy and create jobs within the tribe and bring back our tribal members.

We are encouraging tribal members to submit resumes if you have any experience or education in the areas of: past military contract work, environmental engineering, environmental sciences, engineering, and skilled labor.
Tribal Representatives Attend National Congress of American Indians (NCAI)

Tim Hudson

The National Congress of American Indians (NCAI) 114th Congress Executive Council in Washington, D.C. proved to be very valuable for attending Delaware representatives.

“We hope that a lot of positive things come out of this week,” said Chief Chet Brooks. He and Assistant Chief Bonnie Jo Griffith were representing the tribe alongside about 100 other tribes.

“Historically the tribe has gone to this meeting” he said.

“I’ve gone off and on to DC for the Delaware tribe since about ’83 or ’84… even a few at personal expense.”

“I learned so much this week and truly hope this knowledge enables me to be a better Assistant Chief/Councilperson for the benefit of all of us” said Assistant Chief Chiefo Jo Griffith.

According to information from the NCAI, the non-profit organization is “the oldest, largest, and most representative American Indian and Alaska Native organization serving the broad interests of tribal governments and communities” and seeks a “bright future for generations to come by taking the lead to gain consensus on a constructive and promising vision for Indian Country.”

The council meeting in DC was intended to provide “an opportunity for tribal leaders and advocates to visit congressional offices to discuss current legislative priorities.”

Chief Brooks and Assistant Chief Griffith also met with Kevin Washburn, Department of the Interior, Assistant Secretary for Indian Affairs.

“He said he would make time to come to our Tribal Center to speak with members of our tribe the next time he’s in Tulsa” Griffith said.

The Delaware group also met with Elaine Hutch, Chairman of the Kaw Nation.

“She also serves on one of the NCAI committees. It was surprising to hear her tribe is going through some similar issues as we are. I plan to stay in touch with her and possibly go over and visit her office soon.”

She says that she’s happy to talk about anything that was discussed at any of the meetings with tribal members.

“This is just an overview of what all happened… feel free to contact me if you have any questions” she said.

“I feel like we learned a lot and made a lot of connections.”

Tahkox E2

Tim Hudson

The Delaware Tribe of Indians new environmentally-based LLC Tahkox E2 is quickly becoming an important asset to the tribe.

“We want our tribal members to know that this is a very promising venture with an eye on the future” says Assistant Chief Bonnie Jo Griffith of the endeavor.

“We’ve already gotten a biologist at work in Guam and that’s for a four or five month contract that we should make a good profit off” said Chief Brooks.

Tahkox E2 Manager and Tribal Environmental Programs Director Jimmie Johnson says that the initial work done by the company will be with “geographic information systems.”

The company is 100 percent owned by the Delaware.

“The top of our list of priorities is safeguarding tribal funds,” Assistant Chief Griffith says. “And this is something we hope will be generating revenue for years to come.”

Council member and Native Studies Professor Nicky Michael says that the LLC is “critical” to the development of the tribe.

“Because our resources are limited when it comes to business; plus it’s completely in line with our culture because it’s environmental. Our most successful program in the last five years has been our environmental and this business takes it to a whole new level. If you look at all that this is going to do for us it’s pretty amazing. Tahkox E2 is a legitimate business, it’s solid and will bring a good foundation to our tribe. It will be good money and not something that is controversial. I am so happy about this business.”

According to Chief Brooks more contracts will be forthcoming.

“We are talking with a couple of groups that could very well result in some more business real soon” he said.

Comments from Chief Chet Brooks

Kula Malsi Hach Lenapeok? Wanishi Wuli Kishku Sik-an! How are you, Lenape Relatives? Thanks for this good Spring Day!

May we be blessed with a happy and prosperous 2015. I congratulate our new Assistant Chief Bonnie Jo Griffith, Secretary Dr. Nicky Michael, Treasurer Benita Shea, Council Member Michelle Holley, and Tribal Judges Rick Barnes and Cameron Fraser on their Tribal Election win. All of these newly-elected tribal officials are working long hours for the benefit of the Delaware Tribe of Indians.

My condolences are extended to the incumbent Chief and three incumbent Council members who lost in the lawful November Tribal Election. I have no personal animosity toward any of you and wish you all a happy life in your future other endeavors, but I do respectfully ask that you privately discourage the continued public and sometimes libelous untruths that a few of your disgruntled, immature followers continue to spread. Wanishi for your assistance in these matters.

The first three months of this administration were spent trying to correct the problems created by the failure of tribally-owned “Delaware Facilities Management Systems, LLC.” It is my displeasure, but my duty, to inform our Tribal Members that the two years DFMS existed has cost our Tribe a $400,000 loss. Seven DFMS employees lost their jobs over this failure, two of them Delaware tribal members. Three other Delaware tribal members have been hired to perform the Delaware Housing Program maintenance work that seven DFMS employees could not do in a profitable and efficient way.

Let me remind all tribal members, “SUCCESS IS ONLY A MEASURE OF HOW FAR WE BOUNCE, AFTER WE HIT BOTTOM.” In that regard we have formed a new company capitalized for $10,000, “TAHKOxe2, LLC.” The motto of Tahkox e2 is “to save the environment born off the turtle’s back.” It is an environmental engineering company which will do such things as GIS mapping, soil reclamation, erosion control, construction, etc. The company already has one biologist performing our first contract, an invasive species GIS survey at a military base on Guam. If any Delaware has environmental, engineering, GIS, biology, CAD, aerial photogrammetry, or construction education or experience, please send your resume to Mike Taylor, HR Delaware Tribe of Indians at mtaylor@delawaretribe.org. We plan to SBA certify and grow this company rapidly and your present home location may not be an impediment to a good job opportunity.

We have also been discussing possibilities in “waste to energy conversion” in New Jersey, Ohio and Oklahoma and hydroponic growing of lettuce and vegetables, and of course will explore all possibilities of income for our Tribe.

In closing I remind Delawares and Cherokees that the deadline for registering to vote in the Cherokee election is March 31.

From the Desk of Tribal Council Secretary, Dr. Nicky Kay Michael

My position as Secretary, via our Constitution, states that my responsibility is communications. The first few months required me to act in correlation to my position of Tribal Council. In this regard, we had to address the most important needs and solvency of the Tribe. After turning the corner in February, I can now focus my attention to the Communications arm of our Delaware Tribe. In this regard, we have developed more of a presence on Facebook and invite tribal members to “like” and follow our page. We post important information such as scholarships, current events and programming. We have also developed a Tribal Blog, thanks to our Assistant Chief, and the tribal members can see our Tribal Council member’s activities through the months between the Delaware Indian News (DIN).

The Delaware Tribe website is next on our agenda. We not only want to upgrade the site, but we are considering a complete overhaul. Our business arm, Tahkox e2 has a very current look and feel and we aspire to achieve this same polish on the governance site.

Last Tuesday, on March 17th, the Tribal Council passed the Tribal Seal Usage Ordinance. As the property of the Tribe, our seal needs to have solid legal protections. Most professional businesses and other tribal nations also have these same laws regarding their tribal seal. We aim to stop any illicit use and misrepresentation of our seal. However, this does not preclude tribal members using our seal for personal use and gifting each other with an image of the seal.

While my position relates to communications, this also requires me to be on top of our federal, state, intertribal, and private funding. Our Tribe must maintain an open and professional dialogue with all the associated agencies and we have taken steps to streamline these processes. As an example of acting within this capacity, we were able to isolate an issue with our NAGPRA program. Many people are unaware of our Tribal Historic Preservation activities. One of those activities is to guard and protect our Native American Graves and Protected (NAGPRA) sites. Apparently, the public was protesting to safeguard one of those sites in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. Because we were not consulted about the pipeline project, as is required by federal law, and it would adversely affect our ancestral site, we were able to interject our presence and stop the project.

Our Child Support Enforcement (CSE) funding and Aid to Tribal Government (ATG) were also stalled from being caught up in the previous systems. We have identified and resolved those problems and are on our way to receiving the comprehensive CSE and ATG.

To further our grant writing efforts, the Tribal Council is establishing a professional and efficient means to identify potential writers and/or train the existing staff. The current Chief will appoint a Grant Writing Steering Committee who will decide upon the bids or retainers for grant writing services. This will ensure that no one tribal member is favored over another and thus benefit from their position, such as being an existing tribal representative. If a person’s qualifications are competitive and correlate to our needs, those criteria will determine who is awarded a contract for these services. Eventually we will work our way into establishing a full-fledged grant writing program with a Grants and Compliance Officer to oversee this function.

From the Desk of Assistant Chief Bonnie Jo Griffith

Since the last edition of the Delaware Indian News, a lot of positive things have happened. We are still putting out some fires from prior to our taking office but at least now I feel we are moving forward.

Chief Brooks and I traveled to the National Congress of American Indians (NCAI) Winter Meeting in Washington, DC the last week of February. Valuable information was obtained and very good contacts were made.

As a Council, we are pushing hard to get the Child Support Services grant finalized. We have been unable to progress with that program as the previous grant has run out. We have to wait until the new grant is funded before we can fill the vacant positions and continue the tribe’s work. This is a very important program and I believe it is safe to say, “All Councilmembers are looking forward to its success.”

Some days it still seems overwhelming the amount of work we are doing but there is light at the end of the tunnel. Construction of the new day care center should have started by the time you receive this edition of our paper. Hopefully, the Tribe will be able to claim the 5,000 square feet that is presently the child care center by the end of the year. The administration building has become extremely crowded and this extra space is much needed.

The gift that the Cherokee Nation brought to us is another Godsend as the Elder Nutrition program had also depleted their grant funds. The $20,000 was so needed and will allow us to continue to serve our Elders. The check being personally delivered by Principal Chief Bill John Baker of the Cherokee Nation was an honor.

Also, a lot of work is being performed by our Housing Department’s Maintenance Division. There are homes being rehabbed and lots of upkeep being performed. I know with the winter weather they had some issues they had to deal with on some of our units and also spent quite some time making sure our drives and parking areas were cleared.

Our new LLC, Tahkox E2, is off the ground and running and we have had minimal investment and should start seeing a return very soon.

I think all of us are looking forward to spring, tornadoes excluded. Please be watchful as we enter this new season.

Vanishi!

Bonnie Jo Griffith
Assistant Chief

From the Desk of Council Member Annette Ketchum

I believe everyone will enjoy the article below and it will help you find peace with God, our Creator, Savior and Friend:

Views about “self” today are confusing at least. The world has a number of them. All teach the importance of one’s having a positive regard for one’s self. The Bible, on the other hand, has nothing good to say about self. Nevertheless, the church, particularly in the last hundred years, has increasingly reflected what the world preaches rather than what the Scriptures teach.

The world’s focus is to highly value self. Why? Because there are only two options regarding any potential hope for humanity: Self or God (meaning the God of the Bible). Self is the choice of the world: man’s will and way as opposed to God’s will and way. Self is the only option left for everyone who rejects the God of the Bible. Although there may seem to be other options, including religious ones, they are all variations of willful “works-salvation” and self-righteousness, with some being more obvious than others.

All religions, from the most legalistic to the most liberal to the mystical, have self at the core of one’s achieving a positive consequence regarding life after death. Only biblical Christianity teaches that denying self and turning to Jesus alone for one’s salvation is acceptable to God.

Self-deification attained through sacred rites is found throughout the religions of the East. Self-realization has its counterpart in humanistic psychology where it is termed “self-actualization.” The connection between Eastern mysticism and psychology has long been recognized by research psychologists, who have documented the fact that Hinduism was brought to the West and made popular through the vehicle of psychology. Although not immediately recognized as self-deification, it is the aim of self-actualization, which is simply defined as reaching toward the ultimate fulfillment of one’s potential.

Self is the cornerstone of all psychological counseling. All of the more than 500 concepts are contrary to the Word of God, and psychotherapy essentially rejects God himself. A fundamental teaching of psychological counseling is that man is innately good. Psychological concepts and practices can never change an individual’s sin nature.

God has the solution for humanity’s self-oriented, self-willed dilemma. It must start with a new birth—a spiritual birth from above. When one receives the simple gospel by faith alone, he is submitting himself, from the heart, to God and to obeying His teachings found in the Scriptures. Although he is then born again spiritually and has become a new creature in Christ, he still retains his old sin nature, but he has been delivered from its control. Nevertheless, a spiritual battle follows between doing his will versus God’s will. God has given every believer the Holy Spirit to help him win every battle in favor of God’s will. Luke 9:23-25 says, “For whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake will save it. For what profit is it to a man if he gains the whole world, and is himself destroyed or lost.” Have a blessed day.

News from Enrollment

Chris Miller, Interim Enrollment Director

Happy Spring! It’s time to welcome back the beautiful growth that comes with this time of year.

One in every five calls this year from members wanting to update their information and getting a new card comes with a comment of “I wish I would have gotten my children enrolled in the tribe before the cut off.” Please let me stress, there is no “cut off”; if you are descended from someone on our base roll, you are eligible for tribal enrollment. Please visit our website (www.delawaretribe.org), go to the Enrollment tab under Services, and print out the application. Review and send it to us at our new mailing address: 5100 E. Tuxedo Blvd., Bartlesville, OK 74006.

We still have a considerable number of “Lost Delaware.” That number is currently 17.9% of our 10,757 members, much reduced from our very high numbers only a year or two ago. To keep us in touch with you (for tribal services, the Delaware Indian News, voting opportunities, etc.), please contact us and let us know if you have moved, had a child, gotten divorced, or sadly had a death in the family. One thing I am seeing that has happened over the years is an Elder or the sibling in charge of keeping up with the Tribe for the family passes on, and everyone has been receiving tribal communications at his or her address. When we have 25 tribal members all with Great Grandad’s house as the address the tribe has for them, and he passes away, we lose contact. Sometimes we hear when mail to that address gets returned. It puts a smile on my face to be able to help a tribal member when we re-acquire their current information. Help me put a smile on your family members faces too.

You can contact me at cmiller@delawaretribe.org or via phone at 918-337-6583.

Community Services Programs

Delaware Tribe Community Services has again opened up most of their programs with some new changes. These include some changed ceilings, so check the list below carefully. Other changes include limiting requests to two applications per fiscal year. We hope that this will let us stretch out the money so that we are able to assist more of our Delaware Tribal members. It is the intention of the Community Services Committee to assist eligible Tribal members who are in financial need. Some measures have been initiated regarding income eligibility and steps are being taken to update the existing applications to reflect those impending changes.

Student Optical Assistance: Assistance to students enrolled in grades K-12, colleges, universities or vocational technology schools. Funds can be designated to pay for glasses, contacts, physician visits or related costs. Each request may not exceed $200.

Emergency Travel: Medical transportation services for Delaware tribal members to include, but not limited to, health transportation costs, assistance and/or other related costs. One-time assistance not to exceed $200.

Burial Program: Burial assistance for Delaware tribal members. The family may apply for up to $500. The funds may be applied to expenses as is most beneficial.

Hospital Equipment Assistance: Assistance with hospital equipment for Delaware tribal members who are hospitalized during the year and some costs of hospital equipment is not paid by third parties. Funds will be used to pay for hospital equipment, which may include rentals, small equipment purchases or related costs up to $200.

Dental Assistance: Assistance for dental services up to $250. Services may include tooth repair, dental fillings, dentures or emergency services. Routine dental exams or cleaning are not covered.

Medical Assistance: Assistance to pay medical bills, including but not limited to medical equipment (purchase or rental), home health care, pharmacy, etc. not to exceed $200.

Elder Programs, Prescription Medication Assistance: Prescription medication assistance to Delaware elders age 60 and over for pharmacy and related cost. Elders may receive assistance not to exceed $900 per calendar year. Funds may be disbursed to vendors on a monthly basis not to exceed $75 per month for long term recurring medication.

PLEASE NOTE: The Community Services Committee has adopted income guidelines for all assistance programs with the exception of Burial Assistance. The income guidelines went into effect on January 1, 2014. The Guidelines are based on the guidelines used by the Delaware Tribe Housing Program, and are intended to insure that these services remain available to those in need.

Judge’s Corner

The development of the Judicial Branch of the Delaware Tribe of Indians is progressing, with the help of Judges Mason, Fraser, Randall, Chafin, and Barnes. Just four years ago, in 2010, judges were elected, and their main purpose was to be available for any possible grievance filings by tribal members. There wasn’t a specific place to hold a judges court or meeting place.

Now, we have a court room, a office in Caney (at the tribal offices there) and even court robes. We attend various other courts (Indian and non-Indian). Since the Indian Welfare Act of 1978 (the tribe is officially recognized tribe), we are involved with the BIA and the Department of Justice in Indian Child Welfare.

Other federally-recognized tribes (Kaws, Osage, Creeks, Chickashaws, Cherokees, etc.) are further along in their processes. But our judges will soon be involved with child custody cases, parental rights, child support and review disputes. The judges are currently reviewing applications for a part-time court clerk and assisting with cases within the Indian Child Welfare Act (timetable of April 2015). Judges now have a budget allocated and are also filing for grants within the Department of Justice. Judges have court or hearings in Caney, Kansas.

Delaware Tribe Housing Department

Since January, the Delaware Tribe Housing Department (DTHD) has submitted our 2015 Indian Housing Plan. The Indian Housing Plan (IHP) is the funding source from which the DTHD operates our Housing programs.

The IHP has a set funding amount to be received from a formula HUD has set up to provide funding for all Indian Housing Authorities, Housing Departments, or Tribal Designated Housing Entities (TDHE). Based on the formula, the Delaware Tribe Housing Department will receive $576,437. From that amount, each Indian housing program will allocate, within their grant, 20% of their grant and agency is reviewing grant proposal for final decision; situation hopeful. (3) With Housing Department, negotiating grievance filed by homeowner re: conveyance of Mutual Help home ownership unit. A TC-appointed hearing panel may be necessary within 30 days.

Indian Child Welfare

Sasheen Reynolds

Our Indian Child Welfare (ICW) program receives a variety of requests that we try to respond to as we continually attempt to develop our program. The first step our program takes is to always establish eligibility for enrollment for the child/children involved and to act as liaison with our enrollment department. Our second step is to provide some basic assistance for those children’s parents, relatives or guardians. This program is continually looking for adoptive/foster parents and I am trying to build a more efficient database of prospective families. I appreciate your patience and ask you to contact me to verify that we have your information. Our primary goal is to keep our Indian children from being separated from family, relatives or Indian families but also as important as that is, we want to keep siblings together.

I am excited to announce that we just received our ICWA grant for the fiscal year of 2015 in the amount of $11,869. We are striving to improve this program every day and continually making progress. We hope to grow our program within this year so that we can assist more families that are in need. Also, I have been working with Judge Don Mason and looking forward to working more with Judge Randall. We are working together to expand our program.

Elder Nutrition

Allan Barnes

Hello Tribal Members, Elder Nutrition enrollees, family and guests. Our people are a tenacious group! Braving the cold and sometimes bad weather conditions, these past three months have not usually kept our regular diners from participating in our daily meal. In fact, we served 1,136 meals in January and 957 meals in February. At first glance, the disparity between January and February may seem discouraging, but the February meals served is based on only 19 days, which is still an average of 50 per day. As expected, we are seeing an increase during the first half of March.

So, to recap past events of the last three months, here is what has happened. During January, we provided Forsythe Hall to the Sumpter family for a Memorial Service meal. The large turnout of family and friends was truly inspirational. The number of volunteers in preparing that meal and providing covered dishes was tremendous! In February, on Saturday the 14th, Valentine’s Day, the Delaware War Mothers held an indoor garage sale, bean lunch and bake sale in Forsythe Hall. Later in the day, the Cultural Preservation Committee held a Social Dance event and chili supper, followed by a Stomp Dance. On Tuesday, March 3rd our program hosted the Chief of the Cherokee Nation, Bill John Baker, and accompanying delegates for lunch with our Tribal administration (Chief Chet Brooks, Assistant Chief Bonnie Jo Griffith, and our Tribal Council). During lunch, Chief Baker presented our Elder Nutrition program with a sizeable donation of $20,000! The lunch was very well attended with nearly standing room only, and our Delaware Tribe was well represented. My sincere thanks go out to the Cherokees and our Tribal Administration for making this support possible. One brief mention regarding Chief Baker: as he went through our Serving Line and received his meal, instead of taking his seat, he took the meal meant for him directly to one of our esteemed elders, Bonnie Thaxton.

Now, rather than repeat the same information presented to you in the January edition, regarding our activities and how we operate, let me simply remind you that you are most definitely welcome to contact our program regarding questions that may come up as an Elder/Senior Citizen. It is our intention to listen and provide ideas or direct you to those agencies that can help. That is why the Delaware Tribe Elder Nutrition program is a member of the National Association of Area Agencies on Aging (n4a), which is the Native American Aging Program, and the Oklahoma Indian Council on Aging (OICOA). These two organizations assist in providing the information and connection with other tribal nutrition programs. We need this to be a strong and viable program for our people. In fact, our Tribe is hosting the OICOA state meeting at our Bartlesville Headquarters on March 27th.

Now, if you are not aware of all of activities here during our lunch, let me list them. We celebrate our Elders’ birthdays and acknowledge anniversaries in a group celebration, usually on the 3rd Wednesday of the month. The birthdays we observed during the months of January, February and March include: Lewis Ketchum, Bucky Buck, Judy Dull, Rosie Ladd, Gilbert Watters, John Sumpter, Barbara Johnson, Paula Pechonick, Jack Tatam, and Bonnie Jo Griffith. If this list does not include your name, let me know and it will be corrected, or let us add you! With that in mind, you are again cordially invited to become part of our Elder Nutrition program. Remarkably, Lewis Ketchum is a regular participant in our Monday, Wednesday and Friday Elder Exercise program and just turned 101 years young in January! Mr. Ketchum is an example to all of us involved with this program. I must also mention Gilbert and Mary Watters celebrated their 63rd wedding anniversary in March! In future articles, we will acknowledge these milestones and honor the good works and accomplishments of our Elders.

In response to the job announcements listed in our January edition, the Kitchen Assistant position has been filled. Mary (Lucy) Young, a Delaware tribal member, has assumed that role and we are enjoying working with her. She has been involved in a variety of duties and has certainly accepted the challenge with a good attitude and smile on her face. Our Elders have been very receptive and kind to Lucy, as they continue to become acquainted. The Kitchen Staff continually strives to provide a healthy, nutritious and tasty lunch. We pride ourselves on the fresh daily Salad Bar and regularly look to add items to enhance your meal. That is where your individual support and donations go, to help us maintain those fresh items on a daily basis.

Finally, we hope to provide our Delaware Tribe a resource guide of services as it is currently being designed to go to publication in the very near future. Our Elder Nutrition program is an excellent way to keep up with what is going on within our Tribe. Come join us! Wanishi

History of the Delaware Powwow

By Catherine Monck

The history of the Delaware Tribe of Indians is a rich and interesting one. Although the history of the tribe goes back hundreds of years, it is common to begin discussion around the time of colonization. The 1737 Walking Purchase began a long period of great distrust between the Tribe and the U.S. Government. Eventually the Delaware Tribe was forced to move until many settled in Oklahoma, where many offices are kept in Bartlesville.

Despite the rough history of the Tribe, there is still much reason for joy and celebration of a culture that has managed to live on and thrive. This brings us to the Delaware Powwow. A Powwow is generally a large gathering of people that includes dancing, sometimes competitively, traditional jewelry, art, and food. Sometimes Powwows are also held to discuss matters of the Tribe.

The most exciting part of a Powwow is probably the dancing. It offers a very real and vivid display of how tradition has been passed through so many generations. The main instrument used is the water drum and it is played by the main singer. This drum was traditionally made from a hollowed out log, which had a bit of water inside to help create resonance, and then covered with an animal hide. Now the drum has evolved to be made from an iron kettle. The other main instruments are generally rattles, which are often made out of gourds. Usually these instruments are played during social dances. Most of these dances are performed moving counter-clockwise, with many repetitions. An interesting part of the history of the music and dances is that some of them have also been passed to other tribes. Some of these dances are performed differently in the tribes they were passed to, but it goes to show how kind the Delaware Tribe was/is.

At Powwows one can also find traditional art. It once again reiterates the passing on of tradition within the tribe. It was quite common for the Delaware to make pipes and ornaments from copper. As many other Native American Tribes, the Delaware made pottery for basic purposes such as holding corn, beans, or tobacco. Beads are also a popular item to be made, which can obviously build on many other things including jewelry or decorating clothing. The making of moccasins has also been very important for the Delaware Tribe. These moccasins are often decorated with beads that are also made within the Tribe. It all makes for a beautiful display of great craftsmanship that helps bring practices of the past to the more modern-day Powwow.

Finally, the food. No Powwow would be complete without frybread, corn soup, and even maybe a deer pie for the more adventurous. My mother has made frybread for me from a traditional recipe multiple times, and I absolutely love it. Frybread is good by itself or with jam, butter, etc. on top. While it is quite a basic dish, the simplicity does not make it any less delicious. Corn soup is another traditional food that may be found at a Powwow. Another simple recipe, it pairs quite nicely with frybread and can be made in large amounts to accommodate for the crowd at a Powwow. Then the deer pie. One can imagine how the members of the Tribe in the past hunted down deer and then used the meat for pie, and the hides for drums, moccasins, or clothing. While slightly more complex, it is once again another hearty dish that compliments the atmosphere of a lively Powwow.

In the end, many of the traditions that are found in Powwows of the past can be found today. The lively dancing, beautiful art and craftsmanship, and the hearty food all contribute to the atmosphere that is uniquely that of a Powwow. I am quite glad that we are able to pass down these traditions of our Tribe to other generations. It is always very important to reflect on where we came from, and where we are going now. A Powwow is a perfect example of how tradition has managed to live on and thrive in the modern world.

Outreach Events, Repatriation and Culture Camp Ahead

Brice Obermeyer
Delaware Tribe Historic Preservation Office

With Spring finally here our office is pleased to share our progress on several important projects and upcoming events. Since our last update we have been involved in a few outreach events. The first was a presentation at the Mid-Atlantic Archaeological Conference on the work we have been doing with museums and archaeologists at Abbott Farm National Historic Landmark. Our presentations focused on presenting the case for culturally affiliating the Abbott Farm complex with the Delaware using multiple lines of evidence, including evidence obtained from archaeology and oral traditions. The second was the publication of our work on correctly identifying Delaware funerary objects in an upcoming issue of North American Archaeologist. These research-oriented events were capped off with a screening of the movie The Canary Effect on the Emporia State University campus. Tribal Manager Curtis Zunigha and Historic Preservation Director Brice Obermeyer served as the screening panelists and discussed the documentary’s presentation of Native American history with ESU students and faculty. All events were well attended and the publication received two positive reviews. Hopefully this work will help raise awareness about Delaware and Native American heritage in the different states and communities with which we share a common interest.

There has also been steady progress in our effort to rebury the Chambers Site collection. This very large collection comes from a historic Delaware cemetery associated with the historic Delaware village of Kuskuskes in Western Pennsylvania. The cemetery is known archaeologically as the Chambers Site and at least 80 individual graves were identified during the excavation of this site in the 1960s. All three Delaware tribes (Delaware Tribe, Delaware Nation and Stockbridge Munsee) have signed and delivered a request letter to transfer control of the collection from the Carnegie Museum and the State Museum of Pennsylvania to the tribes. Once the museums formally transfer control of the remains we will apply for NAGPRA funding to help with the reburial of the remains which we hope to take place at Schoenbrunn Historic Village at some point this summer or early fall.

Schoenbrunn is a reconstruction of the Moravian Mission village that was originally established for the Delaware while they lived in the Ohio country. There is a cemetery there on the site that houses Delaware graves that would have been contemporaneous with the Chambers site graves. We plan to expand this cemetery to include the graves of the Chambers collection.

Along with these events and planned repatriations, we are equally excited that plans continue to develop for the cultural preservation camp that will be held next summer at the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area in northeastern Pennsylvania. This camp will be open to a limited number of high school aged members of the Delaware Tribe, Delaware Nation and Stockbridge Munsee and will provide an educational experience in which students will learn more about Delaware culture and history while living in the Delaware homeland. The camp will be jointly run and led by representatives from the three Delaware tribes, Park staff and local professionals. Participants will not only learn about important historic and natural resources in the park but will also visit museums and historic Delaware sites outside the park. The camp will be supported by National Park Service funds that are available for such activities but space will be limited based on how much funding is made available.

The missing vehicle under DFMS was retrieved by tracking it down to the Auto Dealers in Kansas, who provided the documentation that the tribal titled Lincoln was traded in for another vehicle (titled under his personal name) and this trade in vehicle was in the possession of the former DFMS Director, Jim Creed. One of the two keys is still missing. A lawn mower was also bought with DFMS funds but is not in our inventory.

Joe Brooks is recognized. Speaking as one tribal member, this has been going on for years and years. All the previous Tribal Councils ignored it. You all (the Tribal Council) should hold anyone accountable who commits fraud by trading in a tribal vehicle for a personal vehicle; he “demands” it.

Councilwoman Griffith responds that she is also going to go through all the Lowest receipts and reconcile the purchases with our inventory.

Judge Randall also believes the Tribal Council needs to take action.

REPORTS

Audience requests Environmental Director to Report.

Jimmie Johnson, Director, is currently working on the GAP grant, which funds his program. The funding level has dropped two thousand dollars from the previous year. We are currently working on energy efficiency projects and the grant would continue this work. Other work:

1. He is continuing the recycling program.
2. Waiting on negotiations with mining companies to offset the costs for the National Zinc site.

Mr. Houseberg asks if there are any grants to train in Environmental positions. Mr. Johnson has identified one for which there is a no cost share and would include job training. He wants to speak with Councilwoman Michael about it.

Joe Brooks asks if we have turned the pond over to the Environmental Program.

TIM HOUSEBERG, ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Continuation from last month’s meeting of developing the GAP accounting system. The policy and procedures were adopted last month and are now implemented in the hiring package.

Continued to research the hydroponics proposal and he is very confident in their credibility.

Domicile is on track to profit $27,500.

Questions were from audience about Hydroponics.

PERSONNEL COMMITTEE

Anticipate being done with the Personnel policies by early March.

Sue Cade asks: Are you using federal guidelines? Answer yes.

Councilman Young motions to add Tribal Operations Manager to the Personnel Committee.

Councilwoman Shea seconds. All in favor.

TRIBAL OPERATIONS MANAGER, CURTIS ZUNIGHA

The bulk of his activities has been to shut down DFMS.

He is also working with the accounting department to develop accounting and management as a tool for the staff.

Additionally working with staff to set up Tahkox e2, with offices set up in the Caney building.

We submitted our Indian Housing Plan on the 15th. We will need public input for the final draft for which we will need resolutions (1) for Elders rehab and (2) for opening and closing costs for new buyers.

Went to Emporia Kansas on January 9th to visit with our NAGPRA officer, who is getting ready to apply for a Repatriation grant.

He is going up to Lawrence to visit property and a move-out inspection on January 30th. Dr. Nicky Michael, Benita Shea, and Michelle Holley are planning to go with him.

Had a meeting with Sherry Ratcliff from Delaware Child Care, who will be implementing an ICDBG grant. We can look forward to monthly reports.

Councilwoman Holley requests him to describe the handling of the move-out of the Election Board office. He assured no elected representative was anywhere near this office or material during the time.

Susan Cade asks if the Lawrence property was still under LTI Enterprises?

Councilman Young responds to the expense. Mr. Johnson has been suspended and yes, the property was bought under LTI. The property is now in the name of the Tribe. Nancy Sumpter asks about the Child Care ICDBG grant. The Child Care continues to build these buildings, is the Tribe getting anything out of this.

Mr. Zunigha states we are getting the grant, $800k.

Ms. Sumpter is asking about revenue from the Child Care, not the grant.

Mr. Zunigha: No, we are not revenue sharing.

Joe Brooks wants to know why we are not charging a lease on any of her buildings? She pays utilities.

Verna Artherton asks if there is any Delaware preference for the kids?

Councilwoman Michael said no. While as a tribal member and someone who needed child care, she didn’t appreciate the use of the Delaware name, but at the same time, when we lost our federal recognition, the Child Care had to form a non-profit to stay in business.

Councilwoman Griffith states that she would be willing to come in and look at the Child Care financials for answers.

Jean cautions if we do not have a service area to be able to place child care back under the Tribe. The allocation would be approximately $2k as opposed to obtaining $1.5 million as is.

Councilwoman Griffith motions for a 10 minute break.

RETURN OF TRIBAL ASSETS

Tim Houseberg absent

Jimmie Johnson updating on Tahkox e2:

Business Licensing completing in Guam, Mike Taylor and Jean Lewis working on Personnel and DCA Accounting and payroll system.

Chief Brooks reported on the Tribal Council meeting with the BIA in Miami. We met with Paul Yates. An additional $40k will be added to the amount we are supposed to be able to draw down shortly -- for a total of $470k. The other issue was that we are still waiting on Carciery decision before the Solicitor makes any decision about putting the Caney land into trust.

Titus Frenchman asks for a report on the land in Kansas: what will it be used for and why did we purchase it? How did we purchase this land with only two signatures on a check? He says he understands several of members went to see the property.

Secretary Michael responds that several Tribal Council members have examined the notebook for any proprietary information and found none. The notebook is available for review under the Freedom of Information Act. He can look at it right after the meeting if he desires.

Tribal Operations Manager states that the staff will need a few days to scan the documents and upload it to the Tribe’s website and it will be available to all tribal members.

Councilwoman Shea and Councilwoman Michael report on their observations of the land and home. The land was in a good location and the house was very nice. Brian Pine explained that the land is in a 500 year flood zone with one corner being a 100 year flood zone. The land is a sod farm and the lease assists to pay for the home expenses.

John Sumpter strongly encourages the Tribal Council to research sod farming and the land being in the direct line of a flight path. The sod farm could bring us a slow and steady stream of income if we do our research. Housing would be difficult due to being near an airport.

New Business

Resolution To accept and sign a Letter of Intent with the Dennis Group, LLC

Councilwoman Griffith motions to approve.

The Letter is not attached.

Councilwoman Ketchum states we need to table this until we can discuss the letter.

Chief Brooks wants to know what there is to discuss: there is a group who wants to merely talk to us about trash to energy and possibly gaming outside of the state of Kansas.

Councilwoman Michael motions to table the Resolution.

Councilwoman Shea seconds. 5 in favor, 1 opposed (Brooks)

Provisions for Tribal Seal Protection Ordinance

Secretary Michael explains that we are looking to provide protections for our Tribe’s seal. Currently, we have come to understand that we do not have any protections. This means that anyone can use our seal with or without our permission and it is generally good business practice and good governance to protect your tribal property. As such, we asked Amanda Pructor, the Tribal Attorney to draft an ordinance. It is just in draft form now. This would give the provisions for people/organizations to obtain permission to use the seal but also how we can keep it from unlawful use. For instance, this may include somebody claiming to be Delaware governance status when they are not—hiding behind certain social media. Other examples could be groups in the east claiming to be Delaware using our seal to “validate” their claim. Cherokee Nation has a strong ordinance against any misuse or illegal activity regarding their seal, as do most Tribes.

Councilwoman Shea adds that this would not prohibit tribal members from reproducing the seal for personal use or as gifts. The point being if you want to wear the seal, put on your car or tattoo on your body, that is perfectly fine.

Beau Watt is recognized. He wants to know why all of a sudden the Tribal Council wants this Ordinance now. Tribal Council members take turns responding to his inquiries.

Councilwoman Griffith proposes that we have a second time of year for which we can have a General Council. She suggests the Pow Wow but most state that this would not happen due to the high activity levels and couldn’t occur at the powwow grounds—no politics at the Pow wow.

Councilwoman Griffith inquires about working cameras for security of the building. For instance, several months previous to the election there were defamatory flyers placed in the community center and no one was on camera. They had to have come in through a door that didn’t have cameras. Tribal Operations Manager, Curtis Zunigha will check into some estimates.

Dee Ketchum Profiled in Kansas Alumni Magazine

From Kansas Alumni Magazine, Issue 1, 2015

PROFILE by Chris Lazzarino

Thorpe award thrills former chief and athlete

Like his idol Jim Thorpe, Dee Ketchum has a Native American multi-sport star while growing up in Oklahoma. Unlike Thorpe, who won two Olympic golds in track and field and played professional football, basketball and baseball, Ketchum saw his athletics outlet whetted to one when men's basketball coach Dick Harp found his star recruit from Bartlesville practicing with the KU golf team at LoneStar Country Club.

"Coach Harp said, 'What are you doing out here?'" recalls Ketchum, d'61, g'69. "I'm playing golf, and he said, 'Well, I'm playing golf' and he said, 'No more. You come here to play basketball, not golf.' And that was the end of my career in golf."

Ketchum went on to become a basketball captain for the 1960-61 season, and his career free-throw percentage of 79.2 is still ninth on KU's all-time list. Thanks to his athletic success, numerous natives as a college and high school coach, an entrepreneurial business career and many years as a leader of the Delaware Tribe of Indians, including four as chief, Ketchum in November was awarded the Jim Thorpe Sports Excellence Award by the Tulsa Area Indian Affairs Commission.

"It's very humbling for me to be associated in any way, shape or fashion with Jim Thorpe, because he was one of the greatest athletes America ever produced. He also was of Indian descent, so that made it particularly special for me."

After serving as coach of KU's freshman team and head coach at Clay Center High School, Ketchum returned to the Hill to work on his education master's degree and coach freshmen for fellow Oklahoma native Ted Owens. He went on to coach at Independence Community College and Eastern Arizona College, then joined his brother in forming an oil-field pipe and supply business.

Based in Dallas for 20 years and living for home, Ketchum sold his share to his brother and returned to Bartlesville, where he coached basketball while embracing his Delaware roots. In 1998, after 14 years on the tribal council, Ketchum became the fifth member of his family to serve as chief of the Delaware Tribe of Indians.

Now retired, Ketchum continues to teach Delaware language, tradition, songs and dances, passing on the heritage he learned over two decades spent as an understudy to an uncle who was the longtime ceremonial chief.

"I'm encouraging kids to come back and be involved and learn the language and songs and traditions and customs of the tribe. "But it's a fight, you know? I would never have learned that if I didn't make the decision to come back to Bartlesville and be involved with it.”
