From the Garden
Dana Murrell

Jack Tatum and his dog Lucy came out to visit and to check on the plants while “our” Lucy, kitchen assistant, was watering the Elder Community Garden.

The tomatoes began forming the first week of May. They are looking good now that we don’t have to cover them for the cold. They should flourish now that the warm weather is coming.

Lettuce is starting to take after moving to the dirt from the hydroponics model that was set up in the dining hall. It has been a learning experience; however, radishes, cucumbers, and squash are all up.

The first crop of onions and radishes was ready the week of May 9th. There is still room for more. In July and August we can put out potatoes and onions.

In mid-May the ground was warm enough for gourds per the Elders’ suggestions. Their suggestions also include when to start certain seeds and paying attention to the weather.

Tobacco plants will be started via hydroponics as well and we have two different styles of plants to grow.

The blue corn is doing awesome and we should have lots of it! This will be just for seed this year.

The current residents of our garden include:

- Green beans
- Onions
- Blue corn
- Yellow Squash
- Cucumbers
- Radishes
- Tomatoes
- Lettuce (three different kinds)

On May 9th Lucy was happy to report that the salad for the Elders lunch that day contained lettuce, onions and radishes straight from the garden!

Keep your eyes on Facebook for current garden updates!

Ancient Seeds for Seed Bank

Last year, when our “culture camp” traveled to the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area, Larry Hilaire, wildlife biologist who oversees agricultural leasing within the recreation area’s Research and Resource Management Division, gave the Delaware Tribe a gift of many seeds for our seed bank. There will be nine out of each pack to start in the garden for “seed only” this year. A few are Delaware Blue Corn, Pigeon Beans and an old ancient corn that grows differently from others. It will be very exciting to watch them grow in our garden!
The warmer weather is welcomed and I wish you a summer full of blessings.

The highlight of the last few months was my visit to Las Vegas for RES2016. The chance to visit with the entities within the Native American world was enlightening. They offered many different sessions to attend and learn from. It was a chance to feel like a part of something very big, and to see the possibilities of our own people was inspiring.

As part of my interest in strategic planning, my focus is economic development and preserving our culture. I joined the culture preservation group and look forward to learning and teaching our next generations. I am very excited to see what John Thomas, a Delaware Tribal member, brings back from the Dr. Herbert C. Kraft collection at Seton Hall located in New Jersey. Wanishi, John, for your effort in this opportunity.

I must say the first half of 2016 has been a busy time. With those opportunities come different issues. My response: “It is good to have decisions that need to be made because we see possible growth.”

Due to the city approval to rezone the area on the north side of our campus, the hydroponics venture will continue. A proposal for a contract will be presented to the council in the very near future. We will review this with our attorney and comb through the details with an eagle eye.

The Lawrence group received council approval to apply for a planning grant. It is exciting to see what we can build in the Lawrence, KS area. The vision is a place to grow and provide heritage Native American plants.

I look forward to the Delaware Pow Wow to be held Memorial Day weekend. Prayers to the creator to have good weather so that all of us can enjoy good dancing and fellowship.

The highlight of the last few months have been very important for our Tribes self-sufficiency. The Department of Interior has approved our application to place our Caney land into Trust status. At this time only few administrative requirements are to be completed. These administrative requirements will be completed in the next weeks. Once these requirements are met, Interior is prepared to take the land in Trust. Not since the Tribe was located in Kansas and forced to relocate to Oklahoma in 1866 have we had our own land held in Trust status. This taking of land in Trust will make our Tribe eligible for grants, services, and economic development projects that were never available to us in the past. This is truly a significant moment in the history of our Tribe.

Another important step in the Delaware quest for economic self-sufficiency has been the award of 8(a) status to our Tribe by the Small Business Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce. The formation of our own company, Tahkox e2, allows us to compete in area of government contracting. This includes what is often referred to as sole source and indefinite delivery indefinite quantity contracts. Many tribes have developed their 8(a) status into very successful and very profitable businesses. Tahkox e2 has already completed two subcontracts and is working on some new contracts.

There are several other new economic development projects under review by the Tribe. Each of these projects may help our cause of economic self-sufficiency.

There is an old Chinese proverb that I find applicable to our Tribe concerning economic self-sufficiency: “A journey of a thousand miles must begin with one step.”

The Delaware have started our journey toward economic self-sufficiency.

What If?

It is my opinion that the question should be explored: What if Dee Ketchum had won the election in 2002? This question has crossed my mind many times. Chief Ketchum served the Delaware Tribe under two chiefs for ten years, with positions of economic development director and treasurer. He found the 80 acres and worked toward the purchase of this land, which is our present campus. The Tribal Council was in full agreement that this purchase was a good thing. He believed, during the time frame of 1996-97 after federal recognition had been restored, that a land purchase would jump-start the Tribe.

After his election as Chief in 1998, he immediately began negotiating to get the NIPER Building for a new tribal headquarters. In January 1999 the Tribe moved to Virginia Avenue—the Old Bureau of Mines Building that NIPER (Department of Energy) had occupied for many years. The City of Bartlesville was in possession of the building and the Tribe purchased it for $1. From November 1998 to November 2002, I can unequivocally say, this was the Tribe’s best four years ever. [The Tribe sold the building for $600,000 in 2006.]

When Chief Ketchum left office, the Tribe had the present campus with the community center, including child care, the elder houses, the Wellness Center Building near ready to open, and the Child Care Administration Building under construction. There were 80–90 employees, most all of the grants we have today (including Elder Nutrition), plus many more. The 8(a) businesses were moving forward; and the Boeing contract, that was on schedule to increase revenue by $1M per year, was operating. The Tribe had separated its government arm from its business arm, thus taking the politics out of business.

The headquarters building on Virginia Avenue was 45,000 square feet and there were three other buildings in the complex. Two state agencies leased office space in the buildings, along with other leased offices. There was an income stream from these leases and the power plant generated the power for the tribe and the hospital building across the street. The Tribe shared ownership of the power plant with JP Hospital. [During his term as chief the Tribe was in federal courts before winning the lawsuit restoring Federal Recognition.]

What if Chief Ketchum had been re-elected? It is my contention that had Chief Ketchum won the 2002 election, the Tribe:

1. Would not have lost its federal recognition again in 2005. Would have negotiated with the Cherokee Nation to agree to not put land in trust in Washington County. The Tribe would have continued to share dual jurisdiction of the five counties of Washington, Nowata, Rogers, Craig and North Tulsa.

2. Additional businesses would have been developed; additional grants would have increased our indirect and space costs; additional buildings would have been built on the present campus, while all along enjoying an administrative building on Virginia Avenue with a Tribal Council meeting chamber of unique quality; our IHS clinic and diabetes clinic would have continued to provide health services exclusively for our citizens who preferred not to use the CNO clinics.

3. In addition to those buildings which were built on the campus (Social Services, enlarged kitchen and new Child Development Care Center), we would have additional independent-living homes, a gymnasium (which was in the planning stage), and most likely assisted living and nursing care living.

4. Would have economic development in our former reservation in Kansas and various development from Washington County, Oklahoma, to Leavenworth County, Kansas, in the form of grant opportunities and tourism.

5. Would have expanded Delaware culture to include on-going classes in songs, dances, clothing, and, of course, our language. We would have a Culture Center.

6. Would have reworked the Constitution so as to merge the by-laws, clarify confusing sections and explain the purposes of various sections of our governing document.

These are the only items I will include, although I know Chief Ketchum had extensive plans for the Tribal Council to explore and ideas to enhance income. I could go on and imagine things, but these are what would have been. Even more would have happened if he had stayed in office for more than two terms. But, alas, the voters took him out! He made it look easy to guide a tribe with his leadership, insight, vision and selflessness.

From the Desk of Council Member Nate Young

Membership on the Delaware Tribal Council requires the ability to keep track of multiple tasks. It often reminds me of the juggler we see in a circus.

A Council member must keep track of our Tribe’s financial condition, see that program funds are properly spent, be looking for new programs to provide services, and seek economic projects that will provide revenue to support our Tribe. Of course, this can only be accomplished with the help of our staff.

Our effort has two purposes. One, to provide as many services as possible, including cultural preservation, to our members. Second, to develop financial self-sufficiency that helps meet the needs of our members and allows our Tribe to be less reliant on government funding.

The Council understands our member’s desire for assistance with their housing, health, and their basic needs. We also acknowledge that we must develop a revenue stream to support these needs.

Financial self-sufficiency is the cure for fulfilling the need for services.

We must admit that government grants and assistance from government agencies help provide services for our members. The problem is that we become too dependent on the roller coaster ride of government funding for grants. The same can be said for the funding of government agencies.

How do we achieve self-sufficiency in order to increase services? Economic development.

We have learned that successful economic development requires patience and diligence. After being awarded 8(a) status by the Small Business Administration, which gives our Tribe preference in obtaining certain government contracts, we now have to market our businesses and simultaneously convince our future clients that we can perform the work required. The time required to secure a contract and a competitive market require us to be both patient and diligent.

However, the frustration is worth it. There is not a better goal than achieving our Tribe’s financial self-sufficiency and to increase the services available to our members.

Elder Activities at the Community Center

Dana Murrell

Basket Weaving

Dora Patzkowski was asked to teach basket weaving for an activity to be offered to our elders. She agreed and as a bonus also recruited the woman who taught her. Kathryn Kelley, a Cherokee Treasure, was given the honor of Master Weaver by her tribe several years ago. Her Indian name is pronounced (EE-JAH-KGAH) which she proudly wears on a bracelet displayed in the Cherokee Syllabary. Our group of elders are lucky to have such a knowledgeable person to pass this skill to them.

The materials being used are commercial materials purchased at the Heritage Center in Tahlequah. The reed is soaked before weaving. If it’s not, the reed will be too brittle and break. Many moons ago it was white oak that was used to make baskets. The women would go out in the woods to find the right type of trees and take a draw to shave the wood in strips to bring back the materials for their baskets. Basket names weren’t really around until after the last removal.

In the photos below, you see them making a flat reed square basket. It will take about three classes to finish them.

Basket weaving along with crocheting is one of the Elder Activities offered on Tuesdays from 1-3pm.

Thank You to Lewis Ketchum (1914-2016)

Mary Randall,
Elder Nutrition Director

On April 30th, we lost one of our most active elders, Lewis Ketchum. Every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, Lew would be at the Center early for our 10:30 AM Elder Chair exercises. Afterwards, he would go pick up his special friend, Martha Tate, who is blind, and they would come back to the Center for lunch. Lew was still driving, lived alone, and was very independent at 102 years of age.

Lewis was the father of two former Delaware Chiefs, Lewis B (L.B.) and Dee Ketchum, as well as L.B’s little sister and Dee’s big sister Patricia (Patty) K. Donnell. The Ketchum family suggested that in lieu of flowers a donation be made to the Delaware Tribe Elder Nutrition Program. I would like to take the opportunity on behalf of the Delaware Tribe and our Elder Nutrition Program to thank the Ketchum family for their generosity.

We all miss Lew Ketchum—a true gentleman.

Culture Nights are Back!

Please help get this night of fellowship going. Your attendance and participation are what makes this a success or not. Hosted in the community room at Bartlesville Tribal Headquarters every second Tuesday of the month, this time of fellowship starts at 6pm and requires you to bring a covered dish to share. Perfect timing to make it in after work and enjoy a pot luck style dinner while learning a little culture. Mark your calendar and come join your people!

Loo Loo Loo Loo to Lady Luck!

Around the Pond
Chris Miller, Enrollment Department

Our campus’ pond, located on the west side of Barbara Ave as you pull onto the property, is fast becoming the centerpiece of our landscape. Wildlife around the pond is abundant with our resident Canadian geese, mallard ducks, and most recently a grey swan frequenting the water. Many Canadian flocks have added us as a stop on their flight path so that during the autumn migration season they number in the hundreds.

Last summer we had a fishery come in and stock the pond itself with fish. One thousand bluegill (a type of perch noted by a dark spot on the gill just under the dorsal fin), seven hundred hybrid bluegill (a cross between a bluegill and a sunfish), five hundred channel catfish, two hundred largemouth bass, and 15 grass carp were deposited into the pond. We are still working towards establishing a significant and stable population, so fishing is not yet allowed, but you can often see staff members out feeding the fish.

The wildlife is not the only activity. You will find a walking track that is around 0.3 miles in length around the 1.88-acre pond. There are four picnic tables with cooking grills and two three-point workout stations. The stations are a lower body cycle station, a pushup bar station with three rungs, a weighted overhead press station with wheelchair accessibility, a wobble board, weighted squat press, and hand cycle, all of these have boards showing how to use them properly.

We encourage you to take advantage of this small piece of nature near our headquarters complex.

Tribal Member Cece Biggoose Helps Support The Longest Walk 5, 2016
Dana Murrell

Cece Biggoose, Housing and Occupancy Specialist in the Delaware Tribe Housing Program, spent some time in late April at the Creek Community Center, welcoming the walkers participating in the “Longest Walk 5, 2016.”

Cece participated in the original Longest Walk in the late 1970s. She was unable to go the entire length of the walk, but she did meet many lifelong friends and acquaintances. “I’ve been a member of AIM since I was 15 probably. My aunt Lilly Carson Morgan was an AIM chapter coordinator for Oklahoma. She was on the Trail of Broken Treaties and so, basically, I followed in the steps of my ancestors.”

Cece, who is Delaware, Otoe-Iowa, and Oglala Lakota, received a certificate of appreciation signed by Dennis Banks for her volunteer efforts. Way to go Cece!

Featured Delaware Elder Bonnie Thaxton

Dana Murrell, Editorial Committee

Excerpts from an interview by William Welge of the Oklahoma Historical Society

Ms. Bonnie Lee Thaxton is our featured Delaware elder for this quarter.

At 93 years of age she is still very feisty. She’s seen a lot and is very passionate about her heritage. All the tribal staff enjoy seeing Bonnie on a daily basis, attending the elder lunches and Thursday bingo.

Bonnie, who is half Delaware, was born on July 6, 1923 to Minnie Wilson Thaxton (full blood Delaware) and O.D. Thaxton, who was a white farmer. She is the youngest of four children, two brothers and one sister, but that didn’t stop her from having to work on the farm, they all did.

They lived NE of Dewey, Oklahoma and she attended Scudder school, a little one room country school that was north of their home, where Prairie Song is today. She graduated along with three others from Wayside, another country school, for a total class of six, in the 8th grade. She remembers her teacher’s name was Miss Johnson. She said they had to walk about eight miles to catch the school bus back then to go to high school in Dewey and so she applied for government school and went to KS.

Bonnie was age 9 when her grandmother passed away, but she remembers her Mom’s mom, Mary Wilson, who was full blood Delaware, always spoke the native language. That first year, she said, if she’d known the way home she’d have run off. She knew though that her mother would whip her and take her right back. So she hung in there and graduated in 1941.

She just visited Haskell last year and it is so different now than it was. Special Haskell memories include getting to go home on the first Thanksgiving she was there. She got called to the office, all the while she thought she was in trouble for slapping a girl that got smart with her, and there she found her mother. She was so happy to see her little ole mom. Turns out her cousin had brought her mother up there so they could take Bonnie home for Thanksgiving.

She worked in the dining room after school for a job and she also learned how to bead and how to weave rugs. She wished now that she knew back then that she would have kids. She says she would have made things for them. She made fine rugs and the superintendent wanted to buy two of them. He paid $20 for them. “Back then a dollar was a lot of money, so I thought I was rich! That was big bucks.”

After graduation she came back and worked at Phillips for 11 months. She didn’t like it so she quit, then went to work at different restaurants and really liked working at Murphy’s. She also ended up working at Jane Phillips Hospital for 16 years doing bookwork. She really enjoyed seeing the people she met there and still does to this day.

She was married 22 years and lived in Nowata. Although it ended in divorce they had two wonderful children: a daughter, Karen Lee Cummings, and a son, Douglas Buck (Bucky). Her kids went to elementary and high school in Nowata. Her son then went to college in KS and afterward, Tahlequah, then he was in the Navy for four years. Her daughter went to college in Miami then Missouri.

After her divorce she took her maiden name back. She moved to Bartlesville, and bought a house near the highway, across from Silver Lake Church, and lived there for 46 years.

She remembers her lady neighbors would say, don’t let our husbands see you outside mowing. They didn’t want to give them any ideas of them doing the same.

Sadly her daughter passed away two years ago at the age of 66, from breast cancer, leaving behind a husband and kids.

Bonnie’s son Bucky has also fought cancer but is doing good. He was head dancer at three different pow wows in his days: the Delaware, in Miami, and Indian Summer. He is back to golfing and stuff that he likes to do. She says her daddy had cancer too. Back then though, they didn’t have medicine for it like they do today.

The most important things to her has been her two children, whom she’s always been very proud of and all in all she has eight grandchildren that unfortunately she doesn’t get to see very often.

Bonnie has traveled with a group down to Anadarko on a visit to the Delaware Nation where they showed them how to play Indian football. She also has good memories of playing Indian football when she was young.

She was named an Honoree for the 7th annual AARP Oklahoma Indian Elders in October 2015. Bonnie has participated in tribal activities for most of her life. For more than 30 years she has been active in the War Mothers, Cultural Preservation, and Elders Committees.

Bonnie says you just have to keep on keeping on. This old world is changing so much. When she hears all the stupid stuff on TV she just shuts it off.

She’s very fond of being Delaware Indian. She thinks they are doing great and is very proud of them. She’s happy they have the pow wows and is looking forward to one coming up and hopes it doesn’t rain.
Delaware Indian Newspaper Volunteer Editorial Committee Update

Leslie Jerden

Our new volunteer Editorial Committee has pieced together our very first issue collaboratively with this edition of the DIN. All things volunteer take some time to come together. This committee started with four members: Greg Brown, Chris Miller, Leslie Jerden, and Dana Murrell. This issue has been seen to completion by Greg, Dana, and Leslie. Understandably, time is very valuable, as is committing that time to a voluntary effort. So far, we’ve lost no volunteers under any negative or unwilling circumstances. Instead, we simply fully understand the reality of the effort and yes, time, that it takes to make the DIN happen.

The current committee includes three members, and soon will have a fourth. Leslie Jerden is Chair/Editor. Leslie edits all articles submitted, serves as a spokesperson for the committee, and seeks articles and topics from tribal members. Greg Brown is Technical Editor. Greg formats all of the submitted articles to prepare them for print. Dana Murrell keeps deadlines on track, and seeks articles and topics from tribal members and the tribe’s department managers.

New committee member Nathan Buck Young will begin his contributions with the next issue of the DIN. We are excited to see what he brings to the table with his extensive work history in Native art, documentaries on Native issues and culture, and experience in writing and producing.

We have two additional members to submit to the Tribal Council for approval. Once these are officially approved we will update you with their names. But ideally the committee would benefit from 6-8 volunteers. This would lighten the work load tremendously on all volunteers. We believe that if you are a Delaware tribal member who resides out of state, or in a town or city far from Bartlesville and have had the desire to work in some way for the tribe... this is it! It would be very easy to contribute to the DIN via emails, and phone conferences to volunteer on the committee. If you have an interest in volunteering please contact me at ljerden@delawaretribe.org.

Keep in mind, this is a volunteer committee, no one gets paid. We are in hopes that some will find room on their plates for contributing to such an effort where rewards are not measured monetarily.

In this issue you may find that you are missing the Council and Trust Board meeting minutes. The minutes have been posted to the web site. You will find them at www.delawaretribe.org. (You may also watch the full Tribal Council meetings via YouTube under DelawareTribe, or by clicking the Videos button on the web site.) This move was made to allow more space for community articles and updates.

Speaking of which, if you have news in your community you would like to announce we want to share it! To get your mind moving in the right direction, here are some topic ideas:

Elders: Share a memory from your youth that has a cultural tie in it. Tell us about a family tradition. Share a story about a fellow Native who inspired you.

Youth: Tell us about your achievements or awards. Share your experience from a Native event, cultural camp, class, or school.

Members: If you own a business, tell us about it. Are you participating in cultural classes in your community and want more people to know about the class? Submit the info.

Consider submitting some of your favorite Pow-Wow recipes, a favorite photo in your regalia or Delaware t-shirt, a poem, an update on your heirloom seeds you’ve been growing, an article of thanks for a fellow Delaware who has helped you or inspired you. Don’t forget to send your photos in when applicable. All articles that you wish to be considered for print in the DIN should be submitted to din@delawaretribe.org.

Please also feel free to drop us a note on your thoughts or ideas on the DIN. We are open to constructive criticism, and look forward to your input.

Yours in service,
Leslie Jerden, Dana Murrell, Greg Brown, and Nathan Buck Young.

Committee members Leslie Jerden, Dana Murrell, Greg Brown, and Nathan Buck Young.

Historic Delaware Site Saved in Pennsylvania

Susan Bachor

A significant Delaware cultural and religious site was saved this spring. The site is in Plains Township, Pennsylvania alongside the North Branch of the Susquehanna River. As the local histories state, the area was originally occupied by a Delaware Chief named Jacob Plains. This occupation was just prior to the outbreak of the Revolutionary War. The village consisted of many individuals who lived and farmed along the River. Jacob died as a result of his house being burned. After the tragic death of Jacob, the other Delaware families relocated and the area was resettled by Europeans.

Since Jacob’s ownership and occupation of the land the parcel finally came to be in possession of the O’Malia family. They have been farming this land for many generations. As what happens with many farmsteads the property was divided among sons. One of the sons recently sold their share of the property to a company who planned to use the fertile field as a topsoil pit. The soil would be removed using bulldozers to a depth up to 20 feet which would destroy any remaining evidence of the Jacob Plains Village. This of course caused the remaining part of the family, who still farms nearby, a great amount of heartache. They warned the topsoil company of the potential presence for burials and other cultural remains but the company still planned on moving forward.

The Delaware Tribe was contacted in March regarding the concerns of the O’Malia Family. The Historic Preservation Office for the Delaware Tribe began their investigations and offered their support to the O’Malia Family. We reached out to all of our federal partners with a stake in this property including: Army Corps of Engineers, State Historic Preservation Office of Pennsylvania, Natural Resources Conservation Service, Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, and many more. We also reached out to our neighboring Federally Recognized Tribes who all pledged support. Much to our dismay we learned that we had no legal ability to halt the topsoil excavation because the site was on private property and the planned excavations did not fall under the jurisdiction of any of our federal partners.

Susan Bachor, Historic Preservation Representative for our eastern office, visited the Jacob Plains site in early May and attended a zoning meeting with the intention of presenting the overwhelming evidence that this location was indeed culturally and religiously significant to the Delaware Tribe. Certified letters had also been sent out prior to the meeting addressing our concerns to the Plains Zoning Committee, Plains Commissioners, the company’s lawyers, and the owner of the company. As a result of our significant lobbying efforts, the company offered to sell the land back to the O’Malia Family and the family has agreed to purchase the property. We are thankful that the O’Malia Family has now purchased the property and that we were able to help save this historic site.

We are currently working with the family to ensure the conservation of the parcel. The O’Malia Family is willing to place the entire property in a trust or within the hands of the Archaeological Conservancy. Either way, we are hopeful that the property and the historic significance of the Jacob Plains site will forever be preserved.

Did You Know?

In the 2012 movie Crooked Arrows, a film about a high-school lacrosse team, there is a scene where Tribal flags are brought out. The Delaware Tribe of Indians’ flag shown in the movie scene was once flown at the Bartlesville campus.

The Last Removal

The Last Removal is a depiction of when the Delaware left KS in 1867-68. This painting, by Colorado artist Rosalee Mininger, is a reproduction of a 1930s original sketch from Delaware tribal member Jake Parks. The painting is displayed in the lobby of the Delaware Community Center.
Tribal Operations Manager Report

Allan Barnes

Greetings to all of our readers and followers of the Delaware Indian News. I open in this manner because I have a favor to ask you. As we continue the ongoing search for grant funding opportunities, to benefit our individual departments, would you be willing to complete a Tribal survey? As I mentioned in our April edition, this is certainly a way you as a Tribal member can be a piece of the puzzle for our future. Don’t be alarmed, a survey is not ready to be mailed at this time. However, if you would like to participate, pick up the phone and call our receptionist at 918-337-6590, so we can more efficiently determine who would respond. Grant writing is a process that requires the telling of our story and objective, in a narrative form backed by statistical information. That is where survey information really helps. Wanishi!

I am proud to report the continued progress of several projects currently underway. The Committees involved have spent considerable time in developing and seeking funding to grow their programs. Even though Hydroponics, Climate Change, Cultural and Historic Preservation (including the Lenape language) and Tribal Enrollment all may seem quite different, they really do tie together in the future advancement of our Tribe. Now, not all have received the funding we have requested, but keep in mind we don’t give up and will continue to move forward. We are busy! Sometimes, as we move forward, it can seem to be a slow moving process but our accomplishments have been many. Certainly, our department heads play a key role in the interaction and success of administering the funds made available to them. Keep in mind, most grant funding is referred to as restricted: simply meaning that those monies afforded to that program are to be strictly accounted for, in the usage of that grant alone.

Around the Delaware campus, the Elder Nutrition program is naturally the most visible, simply because of our Daily Lunch Program and activities, including the Elder Exercise Program. Also, the Health Fair held in April was a great success which was grant funded. This new event was coordinated by our Director, Mary Randall, and supported by many volunteers. Please don’t hesitate to call if you ever have questions.

Our Housing Department and Environmental Program are available to you as well. As a service to our tribal membership, we are here to provide information as best we can. Our Enrollment Department is looking forward to its expanded space and more secure file keeping. They are at your service.

The Wellness Center is certainly a cooler environment to work out in than this summer heat.

Anita Mathis in our Cultural Resources Department is continually expanding the Tribal Archive and offers many items out of her Gift Shop which also includes online shopping.

Community Services, Education and other resource information is simply a phone call away. Also, our Department of Family & Children Services, headed by Curtis Zumigha, provides an all-important function that is vital to the welfare of our Indian families.

Finally, as a Tribe and individual families experience the loss of a loved one, we look to celebrate their lives and reconcile how we will carry on. Lewis (Lew) Ketchum, who to my knowledge was our oldest Tribal member, passed on April 30th. He was an inspiration to all. Many that exercised with him at our Elder exercise program were in awe of his energy. So it is in closing, that I want to remind ourselves how long we as a Tribe have endured and how important it is we continue to thrive as the Delaware Tribe of Indians. We are doing well!

Respectfully,
Allan R. Barnes

Delaware Child Development
WWW.DELAWARECHILD.ORG

Sherry Rackliff

We are so proud to announce the grand opening of our new nationally accredited three-star child care facility, Delaware Child Development Center, located at 5106 E Tuxedo Blvd. Bartlesville, Oklahoma! At Delaware Child Development Center we are serving over 40 families with their child care needs and plan to keep expanding to our licensed capacity of 60 children. Our new building’s interior is complete and we are working adamantly to complete our three outdoor natural play spaces. Our vision here at Delaware Child Development is to provide a home-like environment while creating opportunities for children to grow socially, emotionally, intellectually, and physically in a nurturing environment.

Delaware Child Development operates year round Monday-Friday 6:30 am to 6:00 pm providing early care and education for ages birth-5 years old. Our teachers are highly trained professionals. Our cook provides “home cooked” meals using fresh ingredients with the highest quality in mind. Family style dining is implemented in all classrooms on a daily basis.

Research shows that the early years of learning are the most valuable. Children learn through messy play, constructing their knowledge by touching, tasting, smelling, watching, listening, thinking, and doing!

Our mission is to provide quality services through partnerships with families, providers and the community while nurturing the development of the whole child and supporting cultural and family values.

Good Day, I hope this finds everyone well. It’s been an exciting few months in the Delaware Tribe Environmental Office. As was reported last fall, DTEP was forced to suspend our recycling efforts that had been in place since 2011 due to the lack of an end point vendor to transport our recycling. After meeting with our EPA Region 6 EPA GAP Project Officer in Dallas in April, we are beginning to breathe new life into our Tribal Recycling Program. In late April DTEP purchased a 2015 Chevrolet Pickup to be used to haul our recycling materials to Tulsa for disposal. In May DTEP procured and ordered two NRT-20 Recycling Trailers capable of hauling 20.2 cubic yards of recycling per trailer. Recycling sorting stations to be placed in each tribal building have also been purchased. Logistics for transportation to a recycling company in Tulsa have been worked out. So we will be prepared to restart our recycling program late this summer or early this fall.

In late April DTEP participated in Operation Clean House at the Washington County District #2 County Barn in Dewey, Oklahoma. This is the fifth year that I have been involved in this event and I look forward to it every year. Volunteers from the Delaware Tribe were Jimmie Johnson (Environmental Programs Director), Michael Taylor (Human Resources Manager), Jade Johnson, Maura Johnson, Levi Krebbs, and Trey Johnson. Household recycling items that were taken at the Dewey site included used motor oil, anti-freeze, car batteries, tires, and appliances.

The Delaware Tribe Environmental Program is also excited to announce a new staffing opportunity. Jimmie Johnson, who has been the Director since 2011, will soon be moving on to manage the Delaware Tribe’s 8(a) company Tahkox e2 LLC. The Delaware Tribe will be soliciting resumes and applications for a “Director in Training” position to be filled in June.

Thank you

Jimmie Johnson

Operation Clean House

Two of the Delaware Tribal staff, Mike Taylor, Human Resources Manager, and Jimmie Johnson, Environmental Program Director, spent some well worked hours on their Saturday, April 23rd, volunteering for the Operation Clean House for Washington County. Levi Krebbs, son of Delaware Tribal Receptionist Angela Krebbs also donated some time as well as numerous other volunteers.

Delaware Tribe Housing Department Receives National Award

Ron Scott

The Delaware Tribe Housing Department sent four attendees to the Housing Data Systems (HDS) Annual Conference in Denver, Colorado to attend a meeting and workshop on March 30 and 31, 2016. The attendees from the Delaware Housing Department were Ron Scott, Housing Director, and DTHD Housing Specialists Cece Biggoose, Lindsey Harris and Laryssa Puryear (who all utilize the data system on a daily basis). During the training session, we were informed about some changes (nothing major) within our record tracking of all our participants, our housing accounts and work orders.

The HDS conference involved over 150 registered individuals from over 50 various Indian Housing programs nationwide. On the last day of the training, HDS presented award for “Kindness,” “Loyalty,” and “Courage.” These awards were presented:

- Kindness: Kodiak Island Housing Authority, Alaska
- Loyalty: Kaw Tribal Housing Authority of Oklahoma, Delaware Tribe Housing Department of Oklahoma, Comanche Nation Housing of Oklahoma, and Saginaw Chippewa Tribal Housing Michigan
- Courage: Muckleshoot Tribe, Washington

Our award read:

The Delaware Tribe Housing was presented in recognition of your steadfast support since 1992. Your faith in HDS allows us to continue in developing tools for tribal housing nationwide. For this we are eternally grateful.

As the Housing Director, I was taken by surprise, but I’d like to acknowledge all former and present Delaware Tribe of Indians housing employees since 1992 and beyond as well as the three ladies who attended and participated at the meeting with me in Denver. We accept this National Award on behalf of the Delaware Tribe of Indians.

The Housing crew from both Bartlesville and Chelsea recently assisted Ms. Sally Farley on her repairs. She in turn gave our work crews, headed by Walter Dye, Housing Inspector, with Mike Leaf, Alan Tatum, Jr., Rob Blalock from the Chelsea office and Dude Blalock from the Bartlesville office, a thank-you note which was deeply appreciated by each worker. The crews work daily without seeking any recognition, since they are only doing their job, but sometimes, out of the blue, something nice comes along.

He, Tribal Members, Friends & Family

Donations of artifacts along with pictures and documents are still coming in. We appreciate the donation from Tribal member Erica Zunigha Magee of a nice display case for the Gift Shop. Forsythe Hall still has the doll collection from Ann Parks on display. This display will be changing soon to feature some of the Frank Speck collection we received back from the Seminoles in Florida. Donated items will be changed out every few months.

Stop by and check out all that is new and offered in the Library. We now have many books catalogued that are ready to read and research. Unfortunately we are still not set up to check out these books.

The Gift Shop has many new treasures. Check out our website at www.delawaretribe.org for the online version. Or stop by and check us out. We are always adding new items. We now have available again the book Talking Tombstones.

As always, please bring in your pictures and documents, anything that pertains to the Delaware Tribe, to be copied and added to our archives to preserve and share with our future generations.

Visit the Delaware Gift Shop
Leslie Jerden

If you have yet to visit the Delaware Gift Shop you are missing out! There are two ways to visit, online or in person. To shop online visit the Delaware website at www.delawaretribe.org. On the right hand side of the home screen, select the red button “Gift Shop.” From there you can fill up your online shopping cart with items like beadwork, books, jewelry, Lenape gear, and even license plates. Pay using your PayPal account and enjoy knowing your purchase goes to support the Cultural Resources Department for the tribe. If you happen to live near Bartlesville, visit the Gift Shop in the Social Services building at Delaware Tribal Headquarters. Use the new service for free in-store pick up!

Another benefit of visiting the brick and mortar store is to see some of our donated artifacts on display. Within the small walls of the shop that Anita Mathis manages, you will find some real and tangible pieces of Lenape history. Over 5,000 photos of our ancestors have been archived. The library consists of approximately 1,100 books. There are an estimated 300 artifacts archived and several on display. The archives also hold over 1,600 letters and newspaper articles dating back as far as the 1600s. More donations arrive on a regular basis as well as additional tribal members allowing Anita to archive and catalogue their personal pieces of history from Lenape culture. Stop in to purchase your Lenape pride gear or just take a look around and admire a bit of history.

Honoring Jim Rementer

Dana Murrell

The Tribal Council voted unanimously on May 3rd to adopt Jim Rementer formally as an Honorary Member of the Delaware Tribe at the Lenape Center’s fundraising dinner, held in his honor June 17th. He was honored for his years of service and dedication that he has exhibited to the Delaware people. It was recommended unanimously by the Cultural Preservation Committee.

Chief Brooks said, “James Thompson, father of Nora Dean, adopted Jim into their family in ‘our traditional way’ a long time ago, but no Tribal Council has done that and we should have a long time ago.”

Jim has worked tirelessly on the Talking Dictionary (www.talk-lenape.org), guiding the formation, updating and maintaining of it over the years. He has written grants for it and dedicated a great deal of time. He is always happy to educate someone who asks him a question regarding the Lenape and he is easy to listen to. He has also put numerous Lenape articles of language and culture on the website for viewing. Please take some time to look at the work he has done for us. Other positions he has held with the tribe are NAGPRA Director, in the Enrollment Department, and Cultural Preservation Committee secretary.

Jim, thank you, from all of the Delaware whose lives you have touched, listened to and taught. Wanishi.

Jim was given a Lenape name in 1965 by Nora Dean. His name is Mushhakwinùnt meaning “He who appears like a clear sky.”

Please look for a feature story about Jim Rementer in the next Delaware Indian News.

What’s New

The National Science Foundation DEL grant enabled us to continue making improvements to the Lenape Talking Dictionary. Our one-year grant was extended to two years, and it ran out at the end of August 2015. We have applied to NSF for another small grant but we have not yet heard any results. If we are funded it will start in June 2016.

We have also added a number of sound files for Lenape words which until recently have lacked sound files, and since February 2015 over 6,000 additional sound files have been added. The Lenape Talking Dictionary now has 16,500 word files, 1,800 Sentence files, and in the Stories section there are nearly 50 stories and songs.

Newest Features

We have been working with our computer programmers and will be making improvements to the dictionary.

Lenape Classes

In January 2015 we started having Lenape language classes on the second and fourth Mondays of every month. We have a new lesson plan each class. We have now had 24 classes.

Project History

In 2002 the Lenape Language Preservation Project received a grant from the National Science Foundation to produce a dictionary database of Lenape. Much of the funding went to digitizing and preserving our existing audiotapes made in past years with native speakers of Lenape. The Dictionary was officially online in February 2006. The Talking Dictionary is a work in progress, and we continue to convert audiotapes of Lenape speakers to digital format, from which we extract the Lenape words. These are then entered into the Dictionary and become immediately available on the Internet. We should mention that the sound files are not all of studio quality. Most were recorded whenever and wherever possible—sitting in someone’s living room, on the porch, etc. We always appreciate your comments about the Lenape Talking Dictionary. We will continue adding to the Grammar and Lessons sections so you can start learning how to construct sentences in Lenape.

Preparation Continues for the Reburial of the Chambers Site

Brice Obermeyer

Archaeological investigations are set to take place this summer in preparation for the reburial of the Chambers Site collection. This very large collection comes from an 18th-century Delaware cemetery associated with the historic Delaware village of Kuskuskies in Western Pennsylvania. The cemetery is known archaeologically as the Chambers Site and at least 80 individual graves were identified during the excavation of this site in the 1960s.

Last year we finalized the transfer of control of the collection from the Carnegie Museum and the State Museum of Pennsylvania to the three Delaware tribes (Delaware Tribe, Delaware Nation and Stockbridge Munsee). The entire collection was then moved to the curation facility at the Ohio History Connection in Columbus, OH and all the remains and objects have been inventoried and reunited. Ohio History will hold the remains and objects for us until we are able to move forward with the reburial which is planned to take place at Schoenbrunn Historic Village in eastern Ohio in October of this year. Funding from the National Park Service will be used to help support our travel to Ohio for the reburial. As a joint reburial, the funding will be split equally among the three tribes.

Schoenbrunn Historic Village is managed by the Ohio History Connection and they have conducted Ground Penetrating Radar (GPR) surveys at four potential reburial locations. Based on the results of these surveys, we have identified a preferred area for a reburial and an archaeological excavation is planned to take place at this location to further investigate for the presence of cultural resources at this location. Given the results of this excavation we will either move forward with the reburial at this location or identify a new potential location. In either case, we are fairly confident that we will be able to move forward with the reburial in October.

1st Annual Health Fair

Dana Murrell

On Thursday April 21, 2016 from 10 A.M. to 2 P.M. Delaware Tribe of Indians Elder Nutrition Director Mary Randall coordinated and hosted our 1st Annual Health Fair event. It was funded by a grant from MIPPA (Medicare Improvements for Patients and Providers Act), for which our Tribal Manager Allan Barnes did the groundwork.

Part D of Medicare, which relates to prescription drugs, was included. For example, there was a Part D specialist that was available to answer questions for the elders. When Open Enrollment for 2016 occurs between October 15 and December 7, we will now have someone as a resource for our elders to answer any questions they may have.

The Oklahoma Indian Council on Aging made us aware of the grant and emphasized that we should apply for it, so we did. This was something new for us and we are glad that they encouraged us to do so. Typically five or six tribes do a health fair together, but we were very happy with our turnout. Rebecca Kidwell at the Will Rogers Health Center in Nowata made the suggestions for vendors to invite and Mary Randall followed up with the ones locally that we are aware of.

Here is the list of vendors and other attendees:
- Amedysis Home Health Care
- Tallgrass Estates
- Alzheimer’s Association
- Kathy Wiley Hearing Aids
- Brookdale Senior Living
- Adams PARC
- Visiting Angels
- Comforting Hands Hospice
- AAA Grand Gateway
- Tulsa Veterans Center
- Will Rogers Clinic Nurses
- Cherokee Nation Dietitians
- Graves Menu Maker Foods
- Jeff Underwood, Field Representative for Senator James Lankford
- Delaware Tribe Housing Department
- Delaware Tribe Gift Shop
- Delaware Tribe Child & Family Support
- Delaware Tribe Enrollment Department

Thank you all for attending!

The highlights of the day included the attendance of Jeff Underwood, Senator James Lankford’s representative, who was able to speak to elders regarding any questions that they had regarding Social Security, Veterans, etc. If he didn’t have the answers, he provided the contact information of the people who could answer them. There were lots of door prizes and fried chicken for lunch. Lots of smiles and information shared. The Delaware Tribe has a great staff who all pulled together in a team effort to participate and help the Elder Nutrition Program’s 1st Annual Health Fair become a success. Looking forward to seeing you next year!

Department of Family & Children Services

Curtis Zunigha

The Department of Family & Children Services includes Child Support Services and the Indian Child Welfare Program. Curtis Zunigha serves as department director. Both offices are located in the Caney, Kansas administrative services building – 601 High Street, Caney, KS 67333. Telephone number: 620-879-2189.

CHILD SUPPORT SERVICES

The Office of Child Support Services is funded by a grant from the US Dept of Health & Human Services/Administration for Children & Families/OFFICE OF CHILD SUPPORT ENFORCEMENT. The program assists applicants to obtain tribal court orders for child support payments. Our goal is to ensure both parents provide continuous financial support for their children. We promote functional co-parenting relationships to increase stable and self-sufficient families. We can locate non-custodial parents, establish paternity, transfer cases from other courts, modify and enforce court orders, and collect & disburse payments. Grandparents caring for children in the home may also be eligible to obtain child support.

The benefit of using our office is that paternity establishment ensures accurate tribal enrollment and inheritance rights. Tribal court jurisdiction allows more authority and flexibility in how cases are handled. And we use native cultural sensitivity in administering every case. We can refer applicants to other offices and agencies to meet the need for other social services. Our office does not provide any legal services to applicants. Child Support Services can manage cases ordered in state courts or referred by state agencies.

The office staff is Curtis Zunigha (Delaware), Director (czunigha@dela waretribe.org); Arleata Snell (Assiniboine), Case Manager (asnell@dela waretribe.org); and Crystal St John (Cherokee), Financial Specialist (cstjohn@dela waretribe.org).

Our staff has recently attended several training conferences facilitated by State of Oklahoma and the Federal Office of Child Support Enforcement. Arleata Snell and Crystal St John recently graduated from the State of Oklahoma Office of Child Support Services Academy and can access the state database system for case management. We are also members of the Oklahoma and the National Tribal Child Support Associations.

The Delaware Tribe has entered into a Memorandum of Agreement with the State of Oklahoma and the State of Kansas. The agreement promises cooperative relations in administering child support services on behalf of any families that our respective programs may serve.

Contact the Office of Child Support Services to obtain an application or download one from the tribal website: http://dela waretribe.org/wp-content/uploads/CSS-Application.pdf

INDIAN CHILD WELFARE

The ICW program provides assistance to children who are being displaced from their home or are experiencing abuse in the home or are being deprived of essential living conditions. The goal is to keep families together and in a safe & stable home. In the case of children needing to be placed into foster homes, the goal is to keep siblings together and placed in Indian homes. Program funds can provide limited assistance in crisis situations. This program is NOT intended to provide poverty assistance grants; however there are circumstances in which severe poverty could lead to the potential neglect of children. Program services also include establishing eligibility for enrollment in tribal membership. All applicants will need to undergo an intake assessment.

ICW is funded by both federal and state grants. The Program Coordinator is Sasheen Reynolds (Delaware). Sasheen recently went to the National Indian Child Welfare Association Conference in Minnesota where she attended training workshops in program management skills. The F&CS Department is exploring the addition of a Title IV-E Foster Family component to the ICW program. We hope this will occur in 2017.

For more information or to obtain ICW services, please call phone number (620) 879-2189, ext 6 or email sreynolds@dela waretribe.org.

Enrollment Department

Leslie A. Fall-Leaf

The Enrollment Department is very happy and excited to announce that our office will be undergoing a much-needed makeover this summer. Thanks to some extra funding obtained through the Federal Aid to Tribal Government Program, we are expanding our office space to include a vault room complete with fireproof filing cabinets where all of our membership records can be stored much more securely and safely. These renovations should begin very soon and if all goes as planned we should be able to remain in the office without too much inconvenience or any unforeseen interruption in service during the construction. However, please bear with us if you come by and encounter any inconvenience. We hope to have it completed by the end of the summer, so look for updates in your next issue of the DIN!

As always, please be aware that new enrollment and replace-ment ID applications may be obtained by either downloading them from the tribal web page or calling and requesting them from our office. Remember that the most effective way to ensure prompt and timely service is to make sure all requested documentation is included with your applications. However, due to the high cost of postage and the volume of applications we receive, there is now a $10.00 fee if you wish to have your documents returned to you through the mail. For security reasons we only send those documents via certified mail with a return receipt. If the fee is not received, we will keep your documents in the applicant’s permanent folder. There is no charge if you pick the documents up in person.

Veterans Committee Report

Kenny Brown

Veterans, AH-TENN-SHUN! Our Tribal Veterans Committee has received eight M-1 Garand rifles from Tacoma Army Donation program. We can now form a full military honor guard along with our veterans color guard.

The M-1 Garands are surplus from WWII and the Korean War. They have been reconditioned to excellent condition, and a nomenclature manual came with each rifle.

We will be having M-1 rifle instruction and honor guard practices in the near future.

Your Veterans committee thanks you for supporting our auctions and raffle. Proceeds will go to keep our uniforms looking strac, purchasing accessories for the rifles, and travel expenses, etc.

We are looking into purchasing a buffalo sculpture for our tribal complex entrance and we plan a War Mothers/Veterans float in the Bartlesville Veterans Parade this fall.

August 20–21: Color Guard will open festivities at the Bixby Music Festival, 10:00 am each morning.

Veterans Auction

Dana Murrell, Editorial Committee

On April 23, 2016, the Delaware Tribe Veterans Committee held an auction and lunch fundraiser at the Delaware Community Center. There was a choice of spaghetti or chili for lunch and the auction was held afterward. Lots of items were up for auction, but the crowd was thin due to lack of getting the word out.

That didn’t stop Homer Scott and Kenny Brown. You had to be careful, if you lifted your hand for any reason, you may have just bid on an item! Everybody got a taste of good food, and there was lots of laughter and some people went home with some great stuff!

Another auction was held at the Delaware Powwow in May. If you wish to donate items for a future auction, because they will be having one I’m sure, please contact Homer Scott at 918-332-8020 or Kenny Brown at 918-510-9555. They will be happy to arrange a pick up for you, or let you know when they are planning the next one.

For those who wish to help but are out of state, you can send donations to the Delaware Tribe Veterans Committee c/o Kenny Brown or Homer Scott. Mail it to 5100 Tuxedo Blvd., Bartlesville, OK 74006. All donations are greatly appreciated.

Elder Nutrition

Mary Randall

Occasionally we are asked who can participate in our Elder Nutrition Program. The Elder Nutrition Program is funded by a grant that is part of the Older Americans Act: Title VI and is for Elder members (55 years or older) of a federally recognized Indian tribe, band, nation, or organized group or community, including any Alaska Native Village as defined in the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (894 Stat. 688). In addition to providing nutrition services to older Indians, a tribal organization may:

• Provide nutrition services to the spouses of older Indians;
• Provide nutrition services to non-elderly handicapped or disabled Indians who reside in housing facilities occupied primarily by the elderly, at which congregate nutrition services are provided;
• Offer a meal, on the same basis as meals are provided to older Indians, to individuals providing volunteer services during meal hours; and
• Provide a meal to individuals with disabilities who reside in a non-institutional household with and accompany person eligible for congregate meals under that part.

Any time the tribe applies for a grant, it must be approved by the Council which confirms that the Tribe will abide by the provisions of the grant. Our recent posting of the grant’s conditions is not a change, but just clarifying participation so that we comply with the grant.

Greetings from the Boys and Girls Club of Chelsea. We are so happy to be giving you an update on the amazing progress we have going here at the club. We are so honored to have been asked to host the 2016 Boys and Girls Club of Americas Native Services Native Learning Event 2016. This event will be held at the Hard Rock Hotel and Casino in Catoosa, OK on May 18th and 19th.

This event features a very important all staff training for Boys and Girls Clubs in Indian Country. Staff from all over Native Oklahoma as well as Kansas will be in attendance. There will also be key trainers from the Boys and Girls Clubs of America’s national office as well as representatives from our current mentoring programs our clubs are running at a local level. This training will be a great way to showcase our Tribe and our native culture. Our club is in charge of the welcome/opening ceremonies as well as all cultural programming. While, at this time, they have not allotted much time to cultural infusion, we will make the most of each minute we have.

The Boys and Girls Club of Chelsea has one of the finest art programs of all the clubs in Indian Country and our art program will be participating in the creation of much of the training materials for the attendees. Our art program will also be giving each organization that is in attendance a piece of clay pottery that has been made right here at our club from our kids.

A little information about our club and its importance. Our club is home to 85 kids daily. We are an afterschool program oriented club. We run programs that enrich their education in the areas of science, technology, reading, and math. We also have several programs that bring awareness to the importance of physical fitness and healthy eating habits. 70% of our youth are native. Of that 70%, 27% are members of the Delaware Tribe of Indians. Our school district as a whole is in approximately 73% of the free or reduced lunch level. The Boys and Girls Club of Chelsea has made it a top priority to ensure every kid coming through our doors get at least one healthy and nutritious snack/meal before being sent home. We have a great staff and as CEO, I could not be prouder of the hard work this staff puts in for very little pay day-after-day. Our staff for the first time in many years, if ever, is 100% native and 40% Delaware!!

We, at the Boys and Girls Club of Chelsea, encourage all our tribal members to come take a look at the newly renovated club and witness for yourself all the positive movements that are being led right here in small town Chelsea. We are still the only club located in Rogers County after all these years! Thank you to the Delaware Tribe of Indians and the Delaware Tribe Housing Department for all they do for our club.

BE GREAT!

Old Mystery Customs

On May 1st there is an old custom of washing your face with the dew on that morning and it will keep you young looking. I knew some Delaware who did that too.

This isn’t a Delaware custom. Does anybody know where this began?
If you know, let us know at din@delawaretribe.org.
Tribal Cultural Center in Bartlesville

Brice Obermeyer

The Delaware Tribe is pleased to announce that we are continuing to work on the development of a Cultural Center to be located at the Tribal Headquarters in Bartlesville. Envisioned as a museum in the heart of a cultural center, we intend for this institution to eventually serve as the premier educational, curatorial and archival facility for all facets of Lenape history and culture as well as an architecturally inviting space for cultural events, language classes and intertribal gatherings.

With this goal in mind, our first step in this multi-year project was to meet with all five Lenape descended tribes about the potential direction for such a Cultural Center. Successfully awarded grant funds were used to support these invaluable consultations and we wish to formally thank the Delaware Tribe and Delaware Nation in Oklahoma and the Munsee Delaware Nation and the Delaware Nation at Moraviantown in Canada for hosting our visits. We would also like to extend our sincere gratitude to those tribal members in Oklahoma and Canada who took the time to meet with us during our on-site discussions. Beyond myself, our team that carried out these consultations included Tribal archivist Anita Mathis who prepared our presentations and was an integral part of the meetings with the Delaware Nation and the Delaware Tribe; and Child Support Services Director Curtis Zunigha who was an essential part of each of the consultations and who was responsible for establishing and maintaining our connections with the Munsee Delaware Nation and the Delaware Nation at Moraviantown in Canada. I would like to personally acknowledge Anita and Curtis’ for their guidance and support on these consultations. It is because of their participation that these consultations were so successful.

The direction and information we gained during our consultations has helped to identify many necessary concerns and potential solutions for the planned Cultural Center. The first and perhaps most significant concern was the location of the center. Understandably each tribe and nation would like to have such a facility housed at their location. The solution to this concern that has received intertribal support is to develop a virtual cultural center that would live on-line and to which all tribes would have access. Here we could offer everything that we plan to offer in person such as language, history and culture classes, digital library and archive and virtual museum exhibits. The virtual cultural center could also serve as an on-line meeting space for each of the tribes to collaborate on shared museum related repatriation projects. We have added this virtual project to our scope of work as we move forward with the planning for a physical cultural center that would be housed with the Delaware Tribe in Bartlesville.

On March 15, 2016 the Delaware Tribe approved a resolution (2016-23) to adopt an investment plan for the increased revenue generated by our recent increase to our consultation fees in the DTHPO. The adopted plan commits 45% of this revenue toward the development and programming for the Cultural Center. Of this 27.5% will be set aside for construction, planning and programming, 7.5% for the Language and Culture Programs; 7.5% for a Museum Director position; and 2.5% will be set aside for scholarships to those tribal members pursuing degrees in anthropology, archaeology, history and closely related fields. With the budget in place, we will soon begin a search for a Museum Director who will take on the task of guiding the direction for the Cultural Center which will likely include temporarily housing it at the Community Center in Bartlesville while the planning for the construction of a new facility takes place. We would also like to encourage any potential student interested in pursuing degrees in anthropology, archaeology or history to contact the Scholarship Committee for information about scholarship funding for the fall.

Pow-Wow -vs- Prison

A poem by Tribal Member Heather Beasley

Freedom to behind bars
Freedom that was once taken for granted
Bars that is having regrets of being
Songs of prayer that reach Heaven
Cries of wanting to go home go unheard
Being able to dance & sing freely
Now having to adjust to the BOP ways

Seeing & enjoying bright & beautiful colors of regalias
Being sick of the sight & wear of khakis
Eating fry bread, Indian tacos, meat pies & much more yummy foods
It’s an amazing 3 day feast
Having to stomach slop that’s given to us
Either eat or starve in this captivity

Fancy, traditional, grass, buckskin, cloth, shawl & jingle dancers
Correctional officers & inmates
Senior, Junior & Tiny tot categories
O.Gs, thugs, wanna-bes, addicts, career criminals, outlaws, the used &
many more of the forgotten

Grand Entry is the beginning of a glorious time
Getting “booked-in” is the beginning of the road to captivity

Honor dances, Two-step, Round dance, War & Gourd dances
Now seeing stripper & erotic dances

Vendors that sell beautiful Native items
Females that sell their soul for pills & commissary
Staying up late to Stomp Dance is fun
Having a “bed-time” for adults is crazy sad

Being able to roam freely
Controlled moves & being locked in
Fun & happy contests with prizes
Trying to “bling” the most, that ends up with debt & fights
Being oneself & spiritual that comes with peace
Having a front & trying to be someone your not comes with a full-time job & headache

Spending time with family & friends that makes a precious memory
Being around a whole lot of convicts that drive you crazy
The sound of drums & singing that is a soothing sensation
Sounds of keys jingling, loud voice of C.Os & inmates make you cringe

It’s a 49’er night, who had fun?
It’s a fight, who won?

At the end of the third night, there’s the feeling of not wanting to Pow-Wow to end
I ask God when will this captivity end?

Being in the arena, dancing, singing & praying releases your fears, regrets, pain & anything else that’s within you

Being incarcerated brings out a lot of fears, regrets, pain & stress
Giving money away for special dances to bless others
Scraping & struggling to get by can be hard at times

Is there another Pow-Wow some where?
Has there been a new law that passed?

OH, the Pow-Wow wore me out
OH, how I need to get out

What a special & unique time
It’s been one hard lesson

The Pow-Wow made some beautiful memories
Prison has made people suffer & hurt

OH, how I can’t wait for another Pow-Wow
OH, how near is my release date?

The Pow-Wow is some where I enjoy to be
Prison is somewhere that I don’t want to return to again

When is another?
When will this end?

How could I take all these wonderful things for granted?
How many Pow-Wows that I’ve missed
But many lessons learned

The end of the night will be my rest
The end of this road of captivity will be my new beginning

Dance, Dance, Dance for everything & everyone
Shout, Shout, Shout that I’m out

Remembering the wonderful colors of the regalias
Seeing the true colors of people

Even though it’s Pow-Wow -vs- Prison there’s things in common
The Great Creator was with me
I’ve had certain family members stand by me

OH, how I love you Mom & Grandma
OH, how so blessed that I am

Instructions for Voting in November 2016 Election!

On November 5, 2016 there will be an election for three Tribal Council seats, Trust Board Chair, three Trust Boards seats, and two Tribal Court seats. You may vote in person at the official polling site or obtain an absentee ballot.

If you cannot vote in person, be sure to apply to get an absentee ballot for tribal elections. It’s easy to do so; just fill out the form below and mail it in.

If you voted in the November 2013 Trust Board election or the November 2104 Chief’s election, you are already on the list and do not need to re-register. Likewise, once you have registered for an absentee ballot you will remain on the list until you fail to vote in three consecutive elections, after which you will need to re-register.

PLEASE NOTE: We need one form per voter. You may copy this form if you need multiple copies, or look for a downloadable form on the Enrollment page of the tribal web site.
