Chief Brooks Announces $2,435,000 Federal Settlement Received December 21, 2017

Happy New Year Lenape, Delaware Tribal Members and Friends:

It was a great Christmas surprise to learn from our accounting office that $2,435 million of settlement funds were transferred to our account by the U.S. Treasury Dept. at mid-afternoon on December 21, 2017. These monies were originally to be paid out per capita, but by act of Congress reverted to Delaware Tribe nine years after the original intended tribal member recipients were either unfound or deceased. In 2002 the then-Delaware Tribal Council filed suit to recover these already long-overdue monies. From 2002 to 2015 five prior Tribal Councils tried to settle this out of court, and in December 2016 the current Tribal Council ramped up the settlement effort, which took one year.

My foremost Thanks for this $2,435,000 settlement go to our unfound and deceased tribal members who did not receive their individual per capita, making the settlement possible. Additional thanks are due to our attorney, Tom Peckham, Nordhaus Law Firm, LLP, for his extended work over the years. Thanks are also due to five prior Tribal Councils and of course the current Tribal Council who achieved the settlement in 13 months. And in final thanks I say “MAY THE CREATOR BLESS THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, THE US DEPT OF JUSTICE, THE BUREAU OF INDIAN AFFAIRS AND THE US TREASURY FOR PAYING THEIR DECADES-OLD DEBT TO THE DELAWARE TRIBE OF INDIANS.”

And “Now For the Rest of This Story.” How do we spend these monies? As a former Trust Board Chairman (1995-98 and 2012-16) I favor, and hope a majority of the Tribal Council will favor, paying our attorney as we must, then placing half of the remaining money in the long-term investment management of our Trust Board. My reasons here are that this would place a larger amount of money in our hopefully perpetual Trust Board funds to be spent on Community Services, Education Scholarships, Elders, Veterans, Tribal Operations, and Reinvestment at the percentages approved by our adult voting membership. To this end I stand ready to call a special meeting of the Tribal Council and Trust Board in late January or February 2018. The special meeting will be open to all Delaware Tribal Members, Tribal Attorneys and some Tribal Employees.

“GOD BLESSED THE DELAWARE TRIBE OF INDIANS.”

Moccasin-Making Class

The Cultural Preservation Committee sponsored a Moccasin-Making Class from November 7 through December 18 at the Tribal Community Center. Each Tuesday evening 15 tribal students were led by instructors (and tribal members) Erica Zunigha-Magee and Luana Murphy.
Official Results of Special Election for Amendment to Constitution

With 57.3% Yes and 42.7% No votes, this Amendment fails for lack of a 2/3 majority vote to amend our Constitution. If passed by 2/3 majority this amendment would have permitted Idaho and Kansas Delaware Blood Descendants of Delawares on the 1862 Kansas Delaware Census to join our Tribe upon payment of a per capita (so as not to diminish the services to our current tribal membership).

THE ADULT VOTING MEMBERSHIP OF OUR TRIBE SPOKE — AMENDMENT FAILS.

Tribal Operations Manager Report

Allan Barnes

I begin this article wishing all of our Tribal Members, Family and Friends a Happy and Healthy New Year!

What do we expect for 2018? First off, I want to tell you that my focus will include continuing to tell the story of the Delaware Tribe of Indians—how we eventually came to settle in Bartlesville, OK and the historical journey from the East Coast states of Delaware, parts of New Jersey, and New York; then westward through the Northeastern states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Indiana; and from there Missouri, Kansas, and Oklahoma. Oh sure, you may know all of this, but I would like for more and more of our communities throughout the country to know about our Tribe. You can spread the word, and it is a fascinating and sometimes bitter tale.

On January 4, we will have that liberty to share with the Bartlesville Civitan Club. So, please enjoy the opportunity we offer, to learn about our heritage, culture and language. This newspaper and the tribal website at www.delawaretribe.org are just starting places for information and available links.

At our December Tribal Council, I advised the council that our remodeling project to increase the office space in our Headquarters Community Center is now underway. We look forward to the sounds of construction in the coming weeks. Oh well, pardon our progress. I’m hopeful that by April, I will be able to invite you to come see our new look.

This time of year, all of our departments are revisiting their budgets and making future plans. Yes, many programs have different fiscal year ends but that is taken into consideration and our Chief Financial Officer assists our Directors. All of our departments have the best interests of our Tribal members in mind with plans in place to better our Tribe and, if possible, increase the services we provide.

Our Trust Board has increased their budget for 2018. Those committees and programs affected are Community Services, Education Assistance, Veterans Committee, Cultural Preservation, Elders Committee, Reinvestment, and Tribal Operations.

With that being said, what does this mean to our tribal members? Effective January 1, the limit for Burial Assistance has increased from $500 to $750, Dental from $250 to $300, Elder Prescription from $900 per calendar year to $1,080 per calendar year, Emergency Assistance from $200 to $240, Medical from $200 to $240, and Rental from $200 to $240. Now while that may not seem like much, our average number of tribal members we assist in a given month is 15+.

Our Community Service & Education Assistance want to help as many Tribe members as possible and we do help a lot of our people. Also, please be advised the household income limit has increased, which is another example of having the best interests of our applicants in mind. To obtain an application, please go to our website or just give us a call. We are in the process of updating the existing applications. Also, for your information, HR Director Sheridan Pickering is our new Coordinator for Community Services and can be contacted by calling (918) 337-6590 as has been the case in the past.

That’s not all… Education assistance from Pre-K’s school supplies to our Trust Board Scholarship provides many families additional funding for all the expenses they incur raising a family. Don’t forget, our Trust fund scholarship has an application deadline of January 31 for the Spring 2018 Semester, as do our Tribal Council scholarships.

So what else do we look forward to in 2018? I cannot be more proud of the dedication and commitment to you of our Tribal Directors and their department. During our meetings, we continually discuss providing the best service we can to our Tribal members. In the corporate world they call it Customer Service. This covers a lot of territory, with what we do.

One of our less visible Departments that deserves recognition is our Tribal Historic Preservation Office. At this time they currently cover 14 states in regard to their NAGPRA (Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act) program and accompanying duties that go along with that office. Their research and interactions with Federal agencies and museums protecting the Delaware Tribe’s interests often go unnoticed. As you can tell by my comments, I believe that our history is what holds our Tribe together and motivates us to protect and preserve our Culture and Language.

Right now, a majority of our activities since the October DIN have involved our Elders and their participation in events such as the Halloween Lunch with the Delaware Children’s daycare, our Thanksgiving meal, and Christmas Party along with various field trips. Certainly a big thanks goes to our Elder Nutrition Department and Director.

The Housing Department is continually making ready and maintaining our homes within our Housing program. I’ve mentioned our remodel project and will update you in our April issue. Right now, I’m heading down to our Gift Shop for some last minute Christmas shopping! I hope you and your family had a Merry Christmas and I wish you the very best for the New Year.

Come Visit us! Sincerely,

Allan R. Barnes

Housing Department

Celena White

My name is Celena C. White. I am the new Housing Specialist for the Delaware Tribe of Indians. I reside in Pawhuska, OK with my three-year-old son, Pierce W. Primeaux. I am an enrolled member of the Delaware Tribe, Osage Nation, and Loyal Shawnee Tribe. I come to the Delaware tribe with nine years work experience with the Osage Nation under my belt. I am excited to be working for one of my other tribes. I will serve my Delaware people to the best of my ability.

I will serve as the point of contact for the Bartlesville Main Office and the Chelsea Satellite office. I will travel to Chelsea periodically. I will always be available to meet with our housing tenants by appointment. In the past month we have received eleven new housing applications. Two new tenants have moved in, and there is one move-in scheduled for after the holidays.

On December 5 the drop box located at the Chelsea Office was removed. Notice of this change was hand delivered to all our housing tenants in Chelsea on December 4. We encourage the tenants in Chelsea and the surrounding areas to utilize the bank service provided for rent deposits at Lakeside Bank in Chelsea. Tenants can mail rent payments to: Delaware Tribe Housing Program, 5100 Tuxedo Blvd. Bartlesville, OK 74006. Rent payments will no longer be accepted at the satellite office in Chelsea.

We are currently in the process of updating the environmental portion of our requirements to ensure that we are in compliance with our funding agency. This is a priority and has been treated as such in the past two weeks.

As soon as all the environmental information is complete I plan to return to the day-to-day activities. I will meet with all tenants who are due to recertify. I anticipate beginning the research portion of class development for our tenants. These classes would include, financial management, yard care, etc. Another big endeavor I would like to take on as soon as possible is restructuring our tenant filing system. This restructuring will also serve as a form of internal monitoring for our department, an action encouraged by our funding agency.

If you have any questions or concerns about any of the information above please do not hesitate to contact me. My number is (918) 337-6530.

Chris Miller

With 2018 starting we encourage you to update your mailing addresses with us. When you move please call the Enrollment Department at (918) 337-6583. Or email us at lfall-leaf@delawaretribe.org for Leslie or cmiller@delawaretribe.org for myself.

To those whom take care of the family’s Lenape Heritage, we do appreciate you. You are great to have as a source of knowledge. Someone who knows where to look us up on the internet and what pages to print off. When the Pow-Wow and Delaware Days are. How to get to Bartlesville and whom to talk to when you get there and are willing to try to get your families involved.

We have both spoken with many of you over the years. Nearly 15% of you have said “My Great Grandparent/Grandparent/Parent died and we were going through their things and there was an Indian card with my name on it. Am I a member of the tribe?” YES! Yes, if you have one, then yes you are a member. If you have one then yes, your children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren are eligible for Tribal Enrollment.

Do not wait to tell your family that they are Delaware. Tell them now. You all can sit down and learn our language on the Lenape Talking Dictionary website at www.talk-lenape.org.

On another note, we have a regalia set found locally that has come out of a young lady’s wardrobe collection. A pink and purple fancy shawl dress is being held in the Enrollment Office. If you can further identify this set of regalia, please provide us in the Enrollment Department with a photo of the young lady wearing a combination of the pieces so that we may get this safely back in her hands.

The Year in Review: Delaware Historic Preservation Office

Brice Obermeyer

The Historic Preservation Office is primarily responsible for all Historic Preservation and NAGPRA-related activities for the Delaware Tribe. Through such work, we are pleased to be able to provide support for the Language and Culture Program as well as the development of a new Cultural Center. We also continue to support the Tribal Museum and Library, Burial Assistance, and Cemetery Maintenance programs. Our main office is on the campus of Emporia State University and we have regional offices at the Delaware Tribe’s headquarters in Oklahoma and Pennsylvania.

The bulk of our ongoing work is focused on the review of multiple types of federal undertakings as mandated by Section 106 of the Historic Preservation Act. Both our Emporia office and our eastern PA office spend much of their time reviewing potential impacts of these projects on cultural and historic Delaware sites in 14 different states.

Accomplishments

DTHPO Annual Meeting completed (October 16-17, 2017): Our department’s first Annual Meeting was held last month. All members of our staff were able to attend and we were joined by Chief Brooks, Tribal Council and Trust Board members, and several tribal members. Our main objective at the meeting was to establish a list of goals for the upcoming year as well as a timeline for meeting these goals. Such goals include but are not limited to 1) expanding our Areas of Interest to include all treaty ceded territories, 2) completing the repatriation of ancestral remains from the State Museum of PA, 3) applying for a NAGPRA grant and THPO grant and 4) developing a private contract CRM firm.

Ohio History Connection’s Tribal Nations Conference (Oct. 31-Nov. 2, 2017): Chief Brooks, Joe Brooks and Brice Obermeyer were in attendance as was Larry Heady who was serving as both our staff and as an OHC consultant. The conference included discussions about this past year’s projects and upcoming plans for historic preservation in the state of Ohio. On Nov. 1, our group as well as Nekole Aligood from the Delaware Nation, returned to Schoenbrunn to visit the reburial location as well as the Delaware cemetery at Goshen. This visit was one year and one week following our reburial at Schoenbrunn (Oct. 25) last year. The reburial cemetery has been cared for well by Schoenbrunn and a well-built split rail fence encloses it.

Shifted claim to Culturally Unaffiliated for the remains at the University of Pennsylvania Museum: Drafting this claim will be included in our 2018 NAGPRA grant proposal.

Drafted a formal claim letter for the human remains at the Chicago Field Museum from Abbott Farm: Our claim letter was signed by all three Delaware Tribes and was submitted and received by the Field Museum. The Field Museum responded in a formal letter dated Sept. 19 that confirms our disposition request and that they will continue to work with us on our request. Continued consultation will be included in our 2018 NAGPRA grant proposal.

Finalizing articles on the Delaware Cultural Affiliation of the Abbott Farm National Historic Landmark for the fall edition of the Bulletin of the Archæological Society of New Jersey: Our revisions are complete and submitted and we continue to look forward to the publication.

Reburial of ancestral human remains complete: On October 23, 2017 we completed the reburial of human remains from one individual from a Delaware site in either NJ or PA. The remains were interred at a property near Albany, NY that is owned by The Stockbridge Munsee.

Provided language for an agreement with Pennsburry Manor to establish a reburial cemetery: We continue to remain in communication about this agreement and reburial location. We facilitated communication with the State of Ohio as Pennsburry is interested in using the agreement we have with them for the reburial at Schoenbrunn.

Drafted a proposal for establishing a trially funded instructor position at Emporia State University: I drafted a proposal to establish a trially funded instructor position at ESU. However after conversations with the administration they did not see this position as bringing any additional revenue and the possibility is on hold for now.

Sacred Sites Resolutions (still waiting): Larry Heady is drafting resolutions to designate our four reburial locations (two at Delaware Water Gap, one at Ellis Island, and one at Schoenbrunn) and Minisink Overlook at Delaware Water Gap as Sacred Sites. We are still waiting on the exact locations of the reburial sites at Delaware Water Gap. Once we have this we will submit the resolutions for the Tribal Council’s consideration. Designating a site as a Sacred Site gives it the same protection as a site on the National Register of Historic Places.

Identifying a location for the Eastern Historic Preservation Office (still looking): In an effort to increase the Delaware Tribe’s visibility on the East Coast, Susan Bachor will be pursuing office space (hopefully free of charge) at East Stroudsburg University in PA. Both Susan and the Emporia office now have Tribal Flags and we plan to ask both institutions about the possibility of flying our Tribal Flags on campus.

Future Plans

• Continue to review Section 106 projects
• Begin planning for a NAGPRA Documentation/Consultation Grant proposal for FY 2018
• Sacred Sites Resolutions
• Revise/expand our areas of interest
• Identify a location for the Eastern Historic Preservation office
• Repatriate the ancestral remains at the State Museum of PA
• Identify a reburial location at Pennsburry Manor

Delaware Tribe Launches Family and Children Services Division

Aimee Turner

The Delaware Tribal Council has recently taken steps to reinforce its dedication to preserving and protecting the rights of families and children by creating the Delaware Family and Children Services Division (DFCS).

The newly-formed Division was created to provide one central unit of services, said Chief Chet Brooks. “The Tribal Council has always been committed to providing as many services as possible to protect our families. The decision to create a division allows us to provide all available services under one umbrella which in turn, will allow our staff to ensure each family receives comprehensive services.”

According to the Chief, the Division includes such programs as Delaware Child Support Services, Indian Child Welfare, and the newly-funded Delaware Domestic Violence Prevention Office.

The Division is overseen by Aimee Turner, Director. Ms. Turner began her employment with the Delaware Tribe of Indians in October 2017, and comes to the Tribe with a vast amount of experience in children’s and social programs. “In the short time she’s been at the Tribe, Ms. Turner has already begun organizing the three existing programs in such a manner as to provide the most effective services for our tribal members,” Chief Brooks said. “In addition, she is currently undertaking a review of available resources to provide additional services and we expect to make additions in the near future.”

According to Turner, the Child Support Services program is in its infancy but already has more than 25 cases in which support is being enforced on behalf of tribal children. More than a dozen of those cases have been initiated in the last few months as tribal members have become more aware of the service, she said.

In addition to child support services, the Division also houses the Indian Child Welfare program. There are more than 40 ongoing cases involving Delaware children throughout the United States and the Delaware Tribe is actively involved in each case.

“It is our responsibility under tribal and federal law, to provide input, guidance and counsel in matters concerning Delaware children who have entered the court system as deprived or children in need of care, regardless of where the child resides,” Turner said. “We are working diligently to provide the necessary services these children need and our goal is to develop additional resources to ensure Delaware children have every opportunity to succeed regardless of their circumstances.”

According to Turner, the Division will be evaluating available resources, including partnerships with other agencies, and implementing new techniques to provide holistic services to children who are impacted by physical and emotional abuse, drugs or alcohol, or other social impediments which affect today’s families.

The third program under the Delaware Family and Children Services Division is the newly-funded and -developed Domestic Violence Prevention Program. The Tribe was awarded a grant to develop and begin implementation of a comprehensive program to address the legal, emotional and social service needs of victims of domestic violence.

Funding for the program was awarded by the Department of Justice’s Office on Violence Against Women (OVW) in October 2017. The funds were awarded to provide the Tribe with financial resources to develop and implement a Domestic Violence Prevention Program which will respond to physical and sexual violence in a manner that promotes safety, emotional and physical well-being, and empowerment.

“We are pleased to be awarded the grant from OVW because we know domestic violence is prominent in today’s society and it is our goal to help as many families as possible to end the cycle of abuse and move toward a path of safe and healthy lives,” Turner said. “The program is currently in the development phase; however, we will begin offering services as soon as possible because we recognize time is of the essence for so many of these families.”

In addition to creating a new division, the Delaware Tribe has added new personnel to the three programs. Joining Turner is Shelby Lacey, who is the finance specialist for the child support program, and Karry Tripp, a case specialist for the division. New positions are expected to be added in the coming months to ensure full staffing for effective and comprehensive services.

For more information regarding the Division or any of the offered programs and services, individuals should call (620) 879-2189 or the Delaware Tribal headquarters at (918) 337-6590.

Respectful Reburial of Delaware Ancestors

Susan Bachor, Delaware Tribe Historic Preservation Office

On October 23 the remains of a minimum of 2 people were returned and laid to rest in a cemetery protected and maintained by the Stockbridge Munsee. These individuals were held in collections for many years, which is typical, as the remains being held privately are not under the jurisdiction of NAGPRA. Luckily, the Delaware Tribe’s ongoing presence in the East Coast prompted the collectors to contact and ultimately work with the Tribe to return these ancestors.

The Kuna Collection was acquired over years by Dr. Samuel Kuna (deceased). Kuna both bought and actively hunted for Native American artifacts. Dr. Kuna’s son, Dr. Robert Kuna, contacted the Tribe regarding repatriation about a year ago after trying to donate the collection to the New Jersey State Museum. The NJ State Museum could not house the collection due to space, next he contacted Dr. Rich Veit of Monmouth University. Dr. Veit was willing to take the collection but refused to accept the human remains. The Historic Preservation Office arranged for the pick-up and re-burial of this individual.

Additional remains were given to the Delaware Tribe about a year ago by Mr. Robert O’Malia. We had helped the O’Malias save a portion of their original farmlands. This family had contacted us about a developer who was going to dig up a parcel of land that held not only the remnants of a fortified village but also at least two burial locations. Working with the family we were able to stop the development and restore the O’Malia family farm to its original size. Bob, a second-generation farmer of this land, had a small collection that he gathered while plowing his fields. John Thomas, Neal Cavallo, and I went to re-visit the site after saving the parcel. During our visit Bob O’Malia invited us into his home to look at his collection. One of his carefully packaged boxes held three human molars. Bob willingly gave the remains to us for reburial.

The day of the burial, October 23, was a windy Fall day. Bonney Hartley, my son, and I met just outside the burial location which is very close to the Hudson River. We gathered the remains and the materials needed for re-burial and proceeded to find a location that would be appropriate. Bonney lovingly prepared the remains while my son and I dug carefully to not disturb anyone else. Prayers and offerings were presented to the deceased and the remains were carefully reburied. Bonney noted that during the burial we were being watched by a hawk that later circled the area after the burial was completed. We took this as a good sign. After the burial we all sat, talked, and shared a light meal.

Child Support Services

Are you or someone in your family having difficulty collecting child support payments? We have a program with dedicated professionals that can help.

The Office of Child Support Services is funded by a grant from the US Dept. of Health & Human Services/Administration for Children & Families/Office of Child Support Enforcement. The program assists applicants to obtain tribal court orders for child support payments. Our goal is to ensure both parents provide continuous financial support for their children. We promote functional co-parenting relationships to increase stable and self-sufficient families. We can locate non-custodial parents, establish paternity, transfer cases from other courts, modify and enforce court orders, and collect and disburse payments. Grandparents caring for children in the home may also be eligible to obtain child support.

The benefit of using our office is that paternity establishment ensures accurate tribal enrollment and inheritance rights. Tribal court jurisdiction allows more authority and flexibility in how cases are handled. And we use native cultural sensitivity in administering child support services on behalf of any families that our respective programs may serve.

Contact the Office of Child Support Services to obtain an application or download one from the tribal website: http://dela waretribe.org/wp-content/uploads/ CSS-Application.pdf

Indian Child Welfare

Do you know of a situation where Indian children are experiencing neglect or abuse in the home, by any family member, other resident or occupant?

The ICW program provides assistance to children who are being displaced from their home, are experiencing abuse and neglect in the home, or are being deprived of essential living conditions. The goal is to keep families together and in a safe and stable home. In the case of children needing to be placed into foster homes or adoption, the goal is to keep siblings together and placed in Indian homes. Program funds can provide limited assistance in crisis situations. This program is NOT intended to provide poverty assistance grants; however there are circumstances in which severe poverty could lead to the potential neglect of children. Program services also include establishing eligibility for enrollment in tribal membership. All applicants will need to undergo an intake assessment.

ICW is funded by both federal and state grants. We work closely with tribal and state authorities to protect our Indian children. All information is strictly confidential according to federal laws.

For more information on the Indian Child Welfare program or to obtain ICW services, please call phone number (620) 879-2189, ext 6 or email: tribe@dela waretribe.org.

Callers Representing More Than 50 Tribal Nations Reach Out To StrongHearts Native Helpline for Culturally-Based Support for Domestic Violence

First-of-its-kind national helpline provides support to Native survivors of domestic violence in tribal communities across the U.S.

AUSTIN, TEXAS (December 12, 2017) – In its first eight months of operations, the StrongHearts Native Helpline (1-844-7NATIVE) has taken calls from Native Americans affected by domestic violence representing 53 tribal nations across 38 states, demonstrating the widespread need for culturally-rooted resources to support tribal communities affected by intimate partner abuse.

Since March, the StrongHearts Native Helpline, the first, national crisis line for American Indian, Alaska Native and Native Hawaiian families experiencing domestic violence and dating violence, has responded to the unique needs of Native victims of abuse, who historically have lacked access to supportive services. StrongHearts advocates are trained to navigate each caller’s abuse situation with a deep understanding of tribal communities, culture and tradition.

“We are honored by those reaching out because we know Native people really do face unique barriers to safety and justice in their communities,” said Lori Jump (Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians), StrongHearts Senior Native Affairs Policy Advisor. “Our advocates help fill the gap by listening to and responding to the complex needs of our callers, but the need for more resources is clear.”

About StrongHearts Native Helpline

Created by and built to serve tribal communities across the United States, the StrongHearts Native Helpline, a project of the National Indigenous Women’s Resource Center, the National Domestic Violence Hotline, and the Family Violence Prevention and Services Program, is a culturally-appropriate, anonymous, confidential and no-cost service dedicated to serving Native American survivors of domestic violence and dating violence, along with their concerned family members and friends. By dialing 1-844-7NATIVE (1-844-762-8483) Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. CST, callers can connect at no cost one-on-one with knowledgeable StrongHearts advocates who can provide lifesaving tools and immediate support to enable survivors to find safety and live lives free of abuse. Lenape Language Project Report

Jim Rementer

What’s New: The new and improved Lenape Talking Dictionary website went online on July 12, 2017. We had been working on the updated site for over a year at that time, and here is a view of the new opening page (top right):

The Lenape Talking Dictionary contains thousands of Lenape or Delaware Indian words, most of which have sound files. It also has photographs, sample sentences, a section on grammar, basic lessons, and 50 stories and songs. The new version uses the same address as before: www.talk-lenape.org. We needed to do the update because: (1) the computer language used to build the database which went online in 2005 was an older computer language and did not function well in more modern computers; (2) the program used to play the sound files did not work with some tablets or cell phones; (3) as time goes on and there are more changes in the computer world we anticipate additional malfunctions in our database if not updated now; and (4) the version that now appears on a cell phone is easily read without having to enlarge the image.

We have also been adding Lenape words from lists created as long ago as the 1600s. There are very extensive lists from the 1700s mostly the work of the Moravian missionaries such as dictionaries, hymnals, Biblical translations and word lists.

The Lenape Talking Dictionary has been and will continue to be available online at no cost to anyone interested in many aspects of the Lenape or Delaware people. There have been requests for translations of Lenape place names. A number of the old place names were reviewed and recorded with Lenape speakers and have been added to the Lenape Talking Dictionary.

Some early images of tribal elders working with various people studying the language are shown on this page.

We are happy to make available the dictionary of the Lenape language—one where native speakers can be heard speaking the language. Since the death of the last fluent native speaker in 2002, the website is the only link connecting Lenape people to their ancestral language. The Talking Dictionary is a work in progress, and we appreciate your comments and suggestions about the Lenape Talking Dictionary.

Surprise Visit by Our Eldest Elder

Leslie Fall-Leaf

On Nov. 15 the Tribal headquarters was graced with a visit from a very special lady, Mrs. Ida England of Chelsea, Oklahoma, who was paying a visit to the Enrollment Office with her family to update their tribal cards. It was a surprise to everyone, especially a delighted Mrs. England, when we discovered that at 99½ she is in fact the Tribe’s oldest living member. Granddaughter of John Redman Ketchum and sister of former Chief Jerry Douglas, Mrs. England grew up in the Winganon and Chelsea area and is very proud of her Delaware heritage. We were all honored to make her acquaintance and look forward to the celebration of her 100th birthday this coming September 8.
