

Archaeological Field School & Tribal Specialist Training

Earn college credits and begin a career in cultural resources, all expenses paid!

Archaeological Field School ANT 368

Program Details:

- 10 seats available
- 4 week accelerated course (2 weeks virtual, 2 weeks in person)
 - May 19 to 30 online
 - June 2 to 13 on site
- Travel costs and all other expenses paid!
- All participants will earn 4 college credits

There is NO cost to tribal participants. Per Diem will be provided for the in-person session. All costs are funded through the National Park Service and National Park Foundation.

Join us at West Chester University for a 4-week cultural resources training and certification course!

This accredited course is based upon the Register of Professional Archaeologists (RPA) recommendations and will prepare participants for Secretary of Interior Certification.

Participants will learn about:

- Historic preservation laws
- Tribal consultation policies
- Cultural research techniques
- Archaeological field methods

For more information, contact any of the following:

Katelyn Lucas, Delaware Nation Historic Preservation Officer, at 405-544-8115 or klucas@delawarenation-nsn.gov

Martina Thomas, Delaware Tribe of Indians Historic Preservation Director, at 918-883-0004 or mthomas@delawaretribe.org

